One Man Slain and Severely Wounded

Police Say Tragedy in Bootleg Quarr

Woman Tells of Shocking Early Call

Bootleg liquor again was the cause of a tragedy, the slaying of one man and the wounding of another, today morning as details came out of a shooting in a bootleg quarry near the city.

RAILROADS

POKER POT

Western Pacific Bluffs Espee?

San Joaquin Extension Plan Seen as Shrewd Move to Force Purchase

Southern Pacific May Have to Prevent Competition by Absorbing Competitor

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—A big-business poker game with railroads for chips and millions in railway stocks for the bank is seen by some shrewd observers of the tactics of Arthur Curtis James, whose Western Pacific Railroad has lately announced its intention to build south from San Francisco into the San Joaquin Valley territory now served by the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe.

From the standpoint of prospective traffic, there is no reason for another railroad in the San Joaquin Valley. Due to the tremendous development of the motor truck and motor bus interests as freight and passenger carriers, there is hardly enough revenue-producing business in the territory which the Western Pacific proposes to tap for the roads already there. The Western Pacific officials deny that they plan to build farther south than Bakersfield, which further accentuates the improbability of the theory that the southern extension is planned for the sake of getting new freight and passenger business for the road.

GOOD POKER TACTICS

Building into the San Joaquin—or rather threatening to do so—is, however, excellent poker tactics. For Mr. James' road to do so would mean further disastrous competition for the Southern Pacific, which has already suffered heavily by the Santa Fe's invasion, and the loss of business which they cannot afford to lose. Rather than go through a cut-throat rate war, which Mr. James is well able to stand, if the supposed bluff should be called, the Southern Pacific's policy in such cases is, where possible, to kill off the competition by buying out the competitor. Such a step would mean a merger of the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific, the former buying out the latter at a fancy price and paying for it in Southern Pacific stock. This would greatly strengthen Mr. James' position as to the road and would pay him a handsome profit on his Western Pacific investment, which he is said to have acquired at a decided bargain. The Western Pacific has never been a paying proposition.

Assuming that this plan is in contemplation, it is shrewdly suspected that the powers behind the Western Pacific do not anticipate the necessity of leaving a single rail or tie into the San Joaquin. From the Santa Fe's standpoint, the time to kill off dangerous competition is before it gets started. It would not surprise the wise ones, therefore, to read at an early date that the Southern Pacific has bought out the Western Pacific and that the latter's plan for a San Joaquin extension has been indefinitely postponed.

IT WORKED BEFORE

A very similar situation preceded the acquisition of the El Paso and Southern Railway by the Southern Pacific. During a hectic period of the agitation in Los Angeles for a union railway terminal—which would have thrown the doors open to any railroad wishing to build into Los Angeles—the El Paso and Southern Railway bought some forty acres of Los Angeles realty in the heart of the area where it was proposed to locate the union station and let it be known that the road would build into Los Angeles to a depot on that site.

As a leader in the competition to a union terminal and to the entry of any more railroads in the rich Los Angeles field, the Southern Pacific was much concerned by this shrewd move of the part of the James interests. It was very shortly thereafter that announcement was made that the road had acquired the El Paso and Southern Railway, together with its forty-acre terminal site. The consideration was not made known but it is said to have represented a profit to Mr. James and his associates of between $100,000 and $200,000.

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (To the Editor of the Times): Been up today to the hospital in New London, Ct., to see Fred Stone; he was hurt just as bad as reported at the time but is coming along great. If the world could see what that man is recovering from it would be worth the accident, just to prove to people what clean living and physical fitness will do for you when you really need 'em.

Anxious to see the Argentine-United States polo championship; saw this week's United States team play. But haven't seen next week's team in action.

As Maine goes so goes New Hampshire.

SMUGGLING ATTRIBUTED TO LAWYER

New York Attorney Made to Pay Heavy Penalty on Undeclared Articles

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Describing it as one of the most flagrant cases of smuggling that has come to their attention for a long time, Customs House officials announced today the failure of Max B. Steuer, prominent lawyer, to declare completely a quantity of merchandise purchased during his recent trip to Europe.

According to James P. McConthie, supervising agent of the United States Treasury Department at the Customs House, the declaration turned in by Mr. and Mrs. Steuer upon their arrival on the Aquitania last Friday listed merchandise valued at $1200. The declaration bore simply the signature of Mrs. Steuer.

At his office Mr. Steuer admitted paying what he termed "duty on purchases abroad" to the amount of about $6500. The merchandise brought by Mr. and Mrs. Steuer was appraised by officials at $2325.30. The penalty of 100 per cent brought the total of $5251.30.

Retail Drug Men Wildly Applaud Herbert Hoover

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania told members of the National Association of Retail Drugists today that unless Congress passes legislation protecting them from distribution monopolies independent retailers will be driven out of business in ten years.

The convention cheered for five minutes when, in predicting passage of the Capper-Kelly fair trade bill, Kelly mentioned the name of Herbert Hoover.

"He is a man who understands the importance of price maintenance," said the Pennsylvania legislator. "As Secretary of Commerce, Hoover became fully acquainted with the problem, and if he is elected to the Presidency, as I believe he will be, the small business man may rest assured he will not be forgotten."

Bay City's Skies Clear Following Rainy "Feeler"

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—San Francisco's first seasonal rain of consequence resulted in precipitation of .03 of an inch during last night but by morning the skies again were clear and the Weather Bureau intimated it was merely a "feeler." Tomorrow, it was predicted, will be somewhat cloudy but no further moisture is expected before Friday.

The season's precipitation at last attained the dignity of a gauge reading. Although it beats last year's mark at this time by .02 of an inch, it is more than a tenth of an inch less than normal.

Santa Rosa reported a trace, the first of the season, against .03 of an inch last year.

WATERSHED ROAD PLANS ADVOCATED

San Francisco Engineer Urges Construction Along Hetch Hetchy Lake

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—City Engineer O'Shaughnessy today requested the Board of Supervisors and Mayor Rolph to approve a program of road and trail building in the Hetch Hetchy watershed included in the Yosemite Park region as a basis of settling the controversy between city and Federal authorities over the city's water rights.

In addition, O'Shaughnessy recommends the adoption of a resolution which will deed certain national park lands now held by the city and not needed for water supply purposes, back to the Federal government.

In the recommendation O'Shaughnessy agrees to go ahead with the building of a trail around the north side of Hetch Hetchy Lake and another trail connecting Titill Valley and Lake Vernon. The proposed Tioga Pass-Harden Lake road, which surveys costing the city $6000 already have been made, will also be carried on when plans are completed, it is declared. Both projects must be approved by the Secretary of the Interior before work can get under way.

Two planes to be fueled and warmed up at the starting line. McMillan, one of the few pilots in the race who had not flown a heavy-laden plane in a long-distance race, was the first to be ready.

LIFTS UP SLOWLY

The red flag dropped and McMillan, who was the first to take off, was the first to be ready. The heavy plane moved, lurched and slowly glided into the air. Further and faster down the runway it went. The tail went up in the air as it gained height and McMillan lifted it, but still it went slowly, too slowly it seemed to those watching from the side lines.

Each by itself he clawed his way upward, and then seemed to hang in the air for a time and then slowly went a little higher until his wing was a thin line on the horizon, only fifty feet or so above the ground and disappeared. It was a good piece of work, a remarkable exhibition of cool courage and great skill and everybody was disappointed when they heard he had been forced down by the engine.

The fifth plane to go also was a tricky job to get off the ground. It was a Buhl, with a tiny lower wing, making it a seagull-plane. It seemed to have a very small wing for the load it was carrying and Nick Mamer, the pilot, was somewhat concerned about the cross wind.

Once aloft the plane was a thing of life, a swift and efficient piece of flying machinery. It had a fast wing and gained speed and lifted so rapidly that those who had watched

RIVAL RAILROAD BLUFFS ESPEE

$15,000,000. Since then nothing further has been heard of the plan to extend the El Paso and Southern lines into the Los Angeles area.

Arthur Curtis James is reputed to be the largest single owner of American rail stocks. Under modern conditions of widely diversified ownership by a multitude of small blocks, it is readily possible for the holder of as small a relative amount as 1 per cent of the whole practically to dictate railroad policy.

James is said to own a large block of the Western Pacific stock. The recent announcement of the forthcoming election of Hale Holden, president of the Burlington, to the chairmanship of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific, is regarded as a step in the James strategy.

The latter may be much more comprehensive than merely involving absorption of the Western Pacific by the Espee. Railroad circles credit Mr. James with ambitions to make over the whole western railway map along something of the same lines followed by Leonor F. Loree in the eastern trunk-line territory. Loree's consolidation plans were blocked by the Interstate Commerce Commission and his experience with that body has suggested to the speculators that a preliminary merger of the Western Pacific and the Southern Pacific may be in Mr. James' mind as a good approach to larger consolidations or working agreements among all the roads in which Mr. James is interested.

SEA FLIGHT HEROINE DUE HERE TODAY

Amelia Earhart Forced to Land in Farmer's Field at Casa Grande, Ariz.

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Amelia Earhart, flying a Moth plane she purchased in England following her successful flight across the Atlantic, made a forced landing near here today while en route to Los Angeles to attend the National Air Races. She was unhurt.

Mrs. Earhart left Long Island about a week ago and has been making the flight across the continent in easy stages. Late this afternoon engine trouble developed. She landed her plane in a plowed field on the ranch of Peter Overberg, former chairman of the State Republican Central Committee.

Her plane is not damaged. She expects to take off at dawn tomorrow to fly to Mines Field, Los Angeles.

GIRL CHAMPION PEACH PITTER

Modesto Student Handles 167 Boxes of Fruit in Eight Hours

MODESTO, Sept. 12. (AP)—To Addie Pingree, 18-year-old Modesto High School girl, goes the honor of setting what is believed to be a new State record for pitting peaches.

Working at the Pratt Lowe cannery she pitted 167 boxes of Phillip clings in eight hours, an average of more than twenty an hour.

Her day's work, in addition to a record, brought her $8.23, or better than $1 an hour.

Miss Pingree is a senior in high school. She worked at the cannery throughout the season. The former State record, it is understood here, was held by a Lodi girl, who pitted less than 140 in an eight-hour period.

WOMEN PRESENT PLEA TO HOOVER SEEK COOLDGE

Pledge for Equal Rights Amendment Asked

Candidate Says Problem One Requiring Study

Cannot Promise Lightly to Change Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Herbert Hoover today frankly told a delegation from the Women's party he will not pledge himself to an equal rights amendment to the Constitution until he has completed an exhaustive study of the effect of such a change in the fundamental law.

The Republican candidate said he is now having an investigation made and will carefully consider the results. He added that he wanted to be sure with the delegation and he did not know at anything more serious than for a candidate for office or a public official, to pledge himself to work for a change in the Constitution.

He said any plea for equal opportunity has a strong appeal for him but that he long ago decided not to make final conclusions on a matter of such importance without a careful study.

WELCOMES COOLDGE

Hoover's address to the delegation after he had made an early morning journey to Union Station to greet Senator Coolidge's home from his vacation in Wisconsin.

"I think you will agree that any plea based on equal opportunity and removal of restrictions of any kind would be a great appeal to me," Hoover said.

He regarded that as an ideal of American life, but it has not been my habit to make a statement of such a nature without a careful study.

SERIOUS QUESTION

"There is up the statute books of all States a mass of legislation designed primarily for the benefit of women and children. I would like to have a thorough and exhaustive study that all of these should be brushed aside with a sweep of the hand."

"I do not know of anything more serious for any public man than to pledge himself to a change of the Constitution," Hoover said.

"I will not pledge myself until I have exhausted my information on the subject. If I find to my satisfaction that this is necessary to attain equality of opportunity, I will be with you."

WOMEN TO CAST VOTE FOR HOOVER

National Party Decides on C.O.P. Support After Comparing Platforms

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Unqualified support, Herbert Hoover was voted by the officers of the National Women's party today after consideration of the Republican nominee's views on women's rights as compared to those of Gov. Smith.

"This committee has the support of the Republican party only for this campaign," said Miss Gail Laughlin, vice-chairman of the party and a newly elected Republican member of the Maine Legislature.

She said the committee had reached San Francisco during the gold rush of the 1850s and had been one of its partners out of a share in the immense profits of the voyage. He had been forced, in the end, to plead the statute of limitations to escape prosecution for a fraudulent business deal.

Wood obtained a nomination for Mayor by bribery of delegates to a convention, which had expected to nominate John J. Cisco, a banker. He was defeated in the election of 1850, and at once laid plans to capture the nomination and the election in 1854.

RADIO LIFTS CAMPAIGN VEIL

Republican Broadcast Program Tomorrow to Reveal Party Workings to Public

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Millions of voters throughout the United States will be taken behind the scenes of a national political contest when the Republican National Committee opens its radio campaign for the election of Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis Friday night.

The opening of the campaign will be marked by an innovation in political methods. To all intents the doors of the Barr Building in Washington where the national committee maintains its headquarters, will be thrown open and the listeners of the radio audience will be invited to enter and see what makes a campaign. Officers of the committee gathered in the rooms of Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the National Committee, will sit before microphones and tell how the campaign is being conducted, what they expect to achieve, and what part of a national election contest is undertaken by each of the departments of the committee. So far as it is possible the mystery which often has surrounded political campaigns will be removed. Republicans of the nation will be told what their representatives on the national committee are doing.

DR. BUTLER COMES OUT FOR HOOVER

Columbia Head to Support Republican Ticket Without Retracting Criticism

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Dr. Edmund Macfield, chairman of the New York State Republican Committee, tonight announced that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, has pledged his support of Herbert Hoover and the entire Republican ticket.

Macfield said Dr. Butler told him that although he will support Hoover because he believes the election of the Republican ticket is best for the country he will not retract his criticism of Hoover's position on prohibition and naval armament, which the Columbia president expressed recently in a letter to the New York Times.

WORK TO EXPLAIN CAMPAIGN

Chairman Work, the principal speaker, will tell how the campaign has been organized and responsibility has been distributed to the various departments. Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, vice-chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign among women, will discuss the importance of women's activities in the election. Franklin W. Curtis, Jr., secretary of the committee, will summarize the activities of his office, and the publicity department will be represented by Henry J. Allen, director of publicity. J. B. Nutt of Cleveland, treasurer, will discuss the solicitation of funds and their expenditure. C. F. Cascoigne, director of radio for the committee will outline in a general way the program of radio addresses which will be followed during the remainder of the campaign.

PUBLIC TO SEE WEEKS

"In the first place," he said, "there never has been a campaign in which the public has been shown just what makes the wheels go around as we intend to show them in Friday's program. The second novel feature is that there never before has been a radio program in which the officers of the national committee of one of the major parties have appeared together. We are trying to set the standard for this program as accurately as the officers of the committee will assemble around a table in Chairman Work's office in the same manner as they might be expected to gather for an ordinary conference. Microphones will be placed on the table in front of each of the speakers and their talks will resemble nothing so much as a round-table report of campaign activities. The program not only will have the atmosphere of national headquarters but in reality it will be broadcast from there."

Hoover Accused of Causing Farm Relief to Fail

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Herbert Hoover was accused tonight by Senator Robinson of being the "principal cause of the failure" of farm legislation during the Harding and Coolidge administration.

Breaking a silence he has maintained on this issue since formally accepting the Democratic Vice-Presidential nomination, the Senator in his second speech in North Carolina, attacked the farm-relief records of both the Republican Presidential nominee and the Republican party in general and declared that "neither he nor his party is entitled to further opportunity."

Professor Gets Reno Divorce

RENO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Arthur Lucien Walker, professor of metallurgy at Columbia University since 1908, a former manager and director of the Perth Amboy plant of the American Smelting and Refining Company, was granted a divorce here from Laurie McNair Walker, whom he married at Norfolk, Va., in 1920. He charged that since 1920 and the couple settled property rights out of court.

Walker invented a mechanical casting machine which entirely revolutionized the methods for casting copper into refined shapes.

Gov. Hardman Gets Lead
Over E. D. Rivers

ATLANTA, Sept. 12. (AP)—A staunch supporter of the Democratic Presidential ticket, Representative
Steele of the Fifth Georgia District today won an overwhelming victory for renomination in the Democratic primary over W. D. Uphshaw, bitter opponent of Gov. Smith.

The Uphshaw-Steele contest has been considered a test of sentiment on the Presidential race.

Official returns from seventy-six of ninety precincts gave Steele 5554 votes against 7110 for Upshaw. Uphshaw carried only one of five counties in the district, losing in his home county, Fulton.

Gov. Hardman took the lead for the nomination for Governor on the face of early returns.

Incomplete returns from 18 of the 181 counties of the State for Governor gave: L. O. Hardman, 1738;
E. D. Rivers, 1401.

HUNT AND ASHURST
WINNERS IN ARIZONA
PHOENIX, Sept. 12. (AP)—Complete and incomplete returns from all sections of Arizona indicated tonight the nomination in yesterday's primary of George W. P. Hunt, Democratic incumbent, and John J.
Phillips, Republican, as the gubernatorial candidates of their respective parties.

The nomination of Henry P. Ashurst, incumbent, for the Democratic candidate for United States Senator, was assured by scattered returns which gave him a three-to-one lead over his only opponent, Charles H. Rutherford. Ashurst led the party ticket with a total of 24, 536 votes against 7267 for Rutherford.

Three hundred thirty-four complete and eighteen incomplete precincts out of 503, tabulated at 7:30 o'clock tonight, gave for:

Governor: James H. Kerby, Democrat, 15,991; Hunt, 21,561; Celora M.
Stoddard, Republican, 2695; John C.
Phillips, Republican, 6120; John J.
Udall, Republican, 5216.

United States Senator: Ashurst,
24,536; Rutherford, 7267; Ralph H.
Cameron, Republican, 8221; Frank
R. Stewart, Republican, 4961.

Secretary of State: W. H. Linville, Democrat, 10,239; W. G. Buyer, Democrat, 12,590; J. C. Callahan,
Democrat, 12,964.

Lewis W. Douglas, Democrat, seeking nomination for re-election to Congress, and Guy Axline, Republican, were unsupported. The vote was: Douglas, 21,618; Axline, 6640.

There is no office of Lieutenant retary of State automatically becoming acting Governor during the

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Sept. 12.

nated by acclamation at the Re-

the short term in the United States Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Jones.

Senator Cutting was unanimously nominated candidate for the national Senate by acclamation at the Republican State Convention today.

Gov. Dillon tonight was selected by the Republican State convention to seek a goal never before attained in New Mexico history—that of re-election as Governor of the State.

BOATRIGHT LEADS IN COLORADO PRIMARY
DENVER, Sept. 12. (AP)—William L. Boatright, Attorney-General of Colorado, tonight was firmly entrenched in the position of standard bearer of Colorado Republicans in the November general election as a result of his overwhelming victory over Clarence F. Dodge of Colorado Springs in Tuesday's primary.

When tabulation was suspended tonight, the vote in 1311 precincts of the State's 1566, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination stood: Boatright, 45,139; Dodge, 27,102.

With the victory of Representative
White, Democrat, of Denver, over George J. Kindel, and the selection of William B. Eaton in a three-cornered contest in Denver for the Republican Congressional nomination, all of the four Congressional nominations of both parties had been chosen definitely with the exception of the Democratic nominee in the Third District, where Harry McIntyre of Pueblo is leading H. L. L.
Anderson of Trinidad on the face of incomplete returns.

JOHNSON SAFELY
AHEAD OF H. T. BONE
SEATTLE, Sept. 12. (AP)—Little doubt is felt that Representative Johnson, author of the National Immigration Restriction Act, will receive the Republican nomination for re-election. His narrow lead was increased tonight by returns from scattered precincts in Pierce county, the stronghold of his opponent.

With but three precincts in Pierce county and twenty-one in Southwest Washington to be heard from, Johnson has a lead of 1096 over Homer T. Bone, Tacoma lawyer. The count is Johnson, 38,407; Bone 37,311.

Nurse Aims New Damage Suit at Edwin G. Grove
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Edwin
G. Grove, multi-millionaire president of the Paris Medicine Company, was named defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages filed in Circuit Court against him by Miss Ruby Dellinger, a trained nurse.
Miss Dellinger cared for Grove's father, Edwin W. Grove, Sr., during the latter's fatal illness.

It is the second suit filed against Grove by the nurse, the other one being for $100,000 for asserted slander placed against him at Asheville,
N. C., where the elder Grove died.
Miss Dellinger charges Grove and two men forced their way into her room in a Philadelphia hotel, made her dress and rent her to New York, threatening her with arrest unless she complied. She returned to Philadelphia only to be forced again to take a New York train, she says.

SMITH ANSWERS WHISPERS
Nominee Issues Statement "Nailing" Story That He Was Intoxicated at Syracuse Fair

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 12. (AP)—The following statement was issued by Gov. Smith tonight:
NAILING A LIE IN THE WHISPERING CAMPAIGN
By Alfred E. Smith

On September 5, 1928, Mr. W. A. Keenan, of the firm of Hays &
Keenan, income-tax specialists at Parkersburg, W. Va., wrote the following letter to Democratic headquarters at Syracuse, N. Y.:

"You are, of course, familiar with the underground 'whispering' campaign which the political enemies of Gov. Smith are waging against him. You possibly noted that Senator Robinson referred to it in his Dallas speech a few days ago.
This same program seems to be in effect in West Virginia. Coming from unknown sources, one would be inclined to ignore such tactics, but it has come to my attention
in the following manner.

SOURCE OF STORY
"A lady of this city, formerly a resident of Syracuse, and very prominent socially here, has a letter from Mrs. Florence Sanford, who she advises, is the wife of H. D.
Sanford, of Syracuse, and who is reported to be prominent there. In this letter she stated that she Sanford had positively denied writing any such letter. I forthwith
(on Saturday, about noon) called
Mr. Keenan on the phone at Parkersburg, W. Va., and asked him for his interest in my cause and asked him if he would call upon Mrs.
Bauer, the woman who claimed to be the author of the letter from Mrs.
Sanford, and ask her if she would be kind enough to let him see the letter. At 6 o'clock on Saturday night
I again called him and he informed me that he had been impossible for him to get in touch with Mrs.
Bauer but that he would attend to it on Sunday morning. Carrying out his promise he saw Mrs. Bauer on Sunday morning and at 12:30 o'clock I received from Mr. Keenan
the following telegram:

"Impossible to get Sanford letter.
Party here says letter is lost or destroyed. Believe she must have got instructions from Syracuse to destroy or not disclose. However, she does not seem to be talking
but has quit talking."

It will be noted that Mrs. Sanford promised Mr. Kelley that she would write to me and make denial of letter attributed to her by Mrs. Bauer. Up to 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, September 11, I received no letter from Mrs.
Sanford.

"If Mrs. Bauer made the statements attributed to her by Mr.
Keenan and Mrs. Sanford made the statements attributed to her by Mr.
Kelley, both can not be telling the truth. Which of the two women involved is guilty of the slander I do not know."

MRS. BAUER DECIDES TO REMAIN SILENT
PARKERSBURG (W. Va.) Sept.
12. (AP)—Mrs. William J. Bauer of Parkersburg, whose name appeared in a statement "nailing"
a lie in the whispering campaign, tonight said: "My husband and myself have absolutely nothing to say in regard to this matter."

"Mrs. Bauer added: 'As to my husband and myself always have been Democrats and always have been for Gov. Smith.'"

Bandits Holding Out for Full $20,000 as His Ransom.

It Has Been Forwarded and He Should Be Free Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—American Consul Lowry, at Guadalajara, Mex., telegraphed the State Department today that E. J. Bumsted of Los Angeles, manager of the Humboldt mine, captured and held for ransom by Mexican bandits August 27, was alive on Sunday, according to information received there.

Lowry said the bandits still were holding out for the full amount of the ransom, $20,000, which was sent to Lidian Del Rio, Nayarit, yesterday. It is expected Bumsted's release will be obtained soon.

Holding Company Denies Investigation Connected With Its Affairs

BERLIN, Sept. 12. (AP)—Hugo Stinnes, Jr., who is being held in jail while a court investigates his transactions in German war loan bonds, has resigned all his memberships on board of directors and his other business offices.

The German-American directors of the Hugo Stinnes Corporation, a holding concern, today issued a statement saying: "The Hugo Stinnes Corporation and its subsidiaries have never, in any way whatsoever, been connected with any of the transactions for which Stinnes, Jr., is under investigation."

The directors agreed that they would continue the present management of the holding corporation and subsidiaries in office and that a future policy would be formulated under supervision of the board.

Union Pacific Vice-President to Retire Soon

OMAHA, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Bee-News today said that E. E. Calvin, vice-president in charge of operation of the Union Pacific System, will retire October 16, next, and will be succeeded by V. M. Jeffers, general manager of the Union Pacific Railroad, a unit of the system.

October 16 is Mr. Calvin's seventieth birthday anniversary. He began work as a railroad telegraph operator in 1873 at 13 years of age and got his first job with the Union Pacific in 1877.

He later became general superintendent of the Oregon Short Line, now merged with the Union Pacific, and was vice-president of the Southern Pacific when these lines were Hartman lines.

First in both Class "A" events of the world's greatest air derby! Three new aviation records!

Leading a field of 37 starters in every lap except one during the entire flight, Earl Rowland in a Scarab-motored Cessna Monoplane covered the 2939 miles of the Class "A" transcontinental air race from New York to Los Angeles in 25 hours, 14 minutes and 6 seconds elapsed time—a new record for planes of this class!

Rowland used Richfield Aviation Gasoline exclusively, competing with practically every well known brand of gasoline that is sold.

Immediately following Rowland's sensational feat, H. S. Myrhes in a Simplex Monoplane powered with Richfield Aviation Gasoline and Richlube Motor Oil won the Class "A" San Francisco to Los Angeles race with an elapsed time of 3 hours, 10 minutes and 20 seconds; while the huge tri-motored Fokker Monoplane, "Richfield" sped down from San Francisco with a load of 10 passengers in 2 hours and 13 minutes, establishing still another aviation record.

Rowland's and Myrhes' great victories follow on the heels of Art Goebel's record breaking non-stop Coast to Coast flight and Captain Wilkins' hazardous 2300-mile dash over the North Pole—both made with Richfield.

Richfield continues to demonstrate its great winning qualities in competition—the qualities which have won more speedway victories and records than all other gasolines combined.

JONES STAGES COMEBACK TO WIN UPHILL BATTLE

Bobby's Crown Hangs by Balance in Nineteen-Hole Clash; Drizzling Rain Sinks Title Hopes

BY ALAN J. GOULD

BRAEBURN COUNTRY CLUB, NEWTON (Mass.) Sept. 12. (P)

The downfall of five former American title-holders and a close call for the king himself, Bobby Jones, today furnished a succession of upsets and thrills in the opening rounds of match play of the amateur golf championship.

With his crown hanging in the balance, Jones staged a desperate uphill fight in his second match to outlast R. Ray Gorton, home club veteran, and win 1 up at the nineteenth hole, after he had easily disposed of the New Jersey champion, J. Wolcott Brown, 4 and 3, in the morning round.

This victory for Jones, the first extra-hole match he has ever played in the title tournaments, brought to a spectacular climax a day that saw the defeat of the man regarded as his most dangerous rival, George Von Elm of Detroit, the only man who has beaten Bobby in the last four years of championship play.

Von Elm, eliminated in the first match of the day by Arthur

W. (Ducky) Yates of Rochester, N.

Y., by 3 and 2, faded out of the picture along with four other ex-

champions—Francis Ouimet, Mac

Nibs Price Upholds System of "Scouting" Opponents During Grid Season

SPYING SYSTEM DECLARED OKEH

California Coach Disagrees With Jones' Theory
Declares It's Big Help to Watch Foes Perform
Serves Notice That Bears Will Scout Again

BERKELEY, Sept. 12. (Exclusive) The ancient and somewhat suspected art of scouting during the football season is held up by Coach Clarence "Nibs" Price of the University of California varsity as a most honorable occupation. In answer to inquiry from the press, Price today expounded himself as follows:

"I see no reason for the abandonment of legitimate scouting. It's quite a help to know something of what to expect from your opponent when you have to prepare a team for a game each week-end."

Coach Price had but little to say concerning the statement of Tad Jones, assistant coach of the University of California, that scouting is a "dirty" game. Price, however, declared that he is forced to go on his own rather than plan on the basis of what is known of the other team's system. Certainly that has been his experience at Yale.

Price's brief remarks on Jones' attitude consisted of the statement that the Yale coach is in the minority in this view, as far as the outstanding coaches of the country are concerned. All agree with Price in his attitude on scouting. This is self-evident, it is pointed out, in the fact that there has been considerable

Brothers Defi Swimming Kin

BALBOA, Sept. 12.—The Skeels brothers—four of them—today issued a challenge to swim any other four brothers in any kind of race. The Skeels, Norman, Roland, Harold and Ray, finished in the order named in a men's 440-yard race at Corona del Mar beach Monday.

by any bitter anti-scouting propaganda of late. Even Jones himself denies that the scouting problem involves any question of morals, ethics or sportsmanship.

It is simply more desirable from a practical standpoint, he says, having delivered himself of the warning or what amounts to the same thing, that California will do some scouting this year. Price returned to preparation for the opening workout of the varsity on Saturday afternoon. The issuance of football uniforms is expected to start tomorrow in order to be ready for photographers' day, Friday.

FISHING STILL FAIR OFF SANTA MONICA

It was reported yesterday to the B. H. Dyer Company's information bureau, by Capt. Jack Dugan, that despite foggy weather, fishing was holding up fairly well off Santa Monica. Many schools of yellowtail are hanging off the beach, but have turned away again, not taking bait. A good many calico bass are being caught.

The reconstruction of the Santa Monica pier has now progressed to a point well beyond the location of the ticket and information booths for the fishing boats. Capt. Dugan also declared that the rebuilding will not curtail the boats.

RABBIT PUNCHES

A CHANGE IN SENTIMENT
LITTLE Fidel La Barba certainly gained a flock of new friends by his masterly fight against Bushy Graham at the Olympic the other night. And for some unaccountable reason there wasn't a false note in the welcome he received when he stepped into the ring—not a single hoot.

Even Jack Doyle remarked about that. It was something new to him—a greeting to Fidel La Barba without a jeer or two. Mr. Doyle has been spending some of the family fortune in Alaska on a vacation and he remembers some of the former La Barba receptions. There were jarring notes in the applause.

But the local populace wanted Fidel to win from Graham and they were with him before he opened the aggressive attack that carried the night.

It's hard to explain this sudden change in sentiment. La Barba has always been a great little fighter, but his counter-punching style didn't go over with some of the rabble.

The only explanation that seems plausible for the whole-hearted opening warmth displayed La Barba was the memory of his splendid bout with Earl Mastro, a sweet little fighter. This was one of the most pleasing scraps Fidel ever fought in the community, and the fans do have a way of remembering—just as they have a way of recalling Johnny Schiff's most peerless efforts.

"I TOLD YOU SO"

INCIDENTALLY, now that La Barba has carried off such a well-earned decision some of the "I told you so" boys will emerge from cover.

None of these are going to get a tumble from me except Art Winch, trainer of Earl Mastro, Joe Medill and Joey Sanger.

Fudge Mr. Winch fell out with Joey Sanger at Hollywood one night over the matter. Joey insisted that Graham was such a great fighter he was a cinch to win.

Mr. Winch doggedly insisted that La Barba is a great deal smarter and a better fighter than a lot of folks give him credit for being, and insisted right up to the bitter end that he would beat Graham.

La Barba's decisive victory vindicates Mr. Winch's judgment. Mr. Sanger can bottle up his prophecies on future fights and leave 'em in Milwaukee. I'll stick with Mr. Winch. Joey left for home before the bout. I'm sorry he didn't see La Barba win. It would have improved his judgment.

That Fidel failed to win Graham's bantamweight title the other night was due solely to the technicality that both boys came in three pounds over the official weight. However, there is now a large possibility that Graham will risk his title here against La Barba in November. He will if he can be guaranteed enough to compensate for a possible loss of the crown. That compensation is said to be $20,000, which may cause the matchmakers to stutter slightly before they close the match.

BUT AND CRICKET

AN OPEN letter from the Innocent Bystander:
"Dear Paul: One of my old college chums from Paris has just sent me a copy of the Paris edition of the New York Herald in which the irrepressible Christy Walsh breaks out with his latest idea, namely to spring the one and only Babe Ruth on the British public as a cricket player. Christy is quoted as saying that he is going to get a couple of demon cricketers to come over and give Babe a little practice and after that take the Sultan of Swat over to England to make Mr. Hobbs, greatest of English batsmen, look like a bum. Peg Murray and I took in one of the "test matches" at the Oval in London when the English team was playing the West Indies and we saw "Obba" in a "undred, which is the British equivalent of several home runs. I don't know whether Babe could ever learn to pace a cricket ball with a cricket bat or not but while he lasted he would certainly give the pos some rides the like of which have never before been seen. The chances are that he wouldn't be so good but he'd be interesting while he lasted all right."

"BILL HENRY."

UNCERTAINTIES IN GOLF

THERE is no accounting for golf victories sometimes. The best man doesn't always win nor does the star always play anywhere near his best game. Taken by and large golf results are more uncertain than those in any other branch of sport—football, track, baseball, fights, etc.

Which may explain why five ex-national amateur champions, including George Von Elm, yesterday hit the dust at Braeburn. It seems there are only two almost sure-fire sees in the world of golf—Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen.

And even they slip sometimes, as witness Bobby's fifth place in the qualifying round, the crown of which he has captured the past two years, and Hagen's overwhelming defeat by Archie Compston before his triumph in the British open.

Senators Buy Five, Recall Five Players

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington American baseball team, today announced that five players had been bought and five others farmed out earlier in the season had been recalled.

It was reported that Adolph Liska, pitcher from Minneapolis, Ill., cost Griffith $20,000. Others recalled were Elmer Yoder, third baseman, and Grant Gillis, shortstop, from Minneapolis, and Elliott Biglow and Melburn Simmons, outfielders, from the Birmingham club of the Southern Association.

Ernest (Mud) Shirley, Birmingham first baseman; Paul Hopkins, Montreal pitcher, and Jack Hayes, shortstop; Hermes Liebner, and Clayton Van Alstyne, pitchers, who were farmed to Minneapolis, have been recalled.

Several of the players are to report to the Senators during the club's western tour, which starts Saturday.

Navy Football Teams in First Games Saturday

Southern California gets its first glimpse of 1936 football at Point Fermin in the Navy stadium Saturday, when two battleship eleven clash in the opening game of the season. It will be the first official grid struggle played and starts the fall campaign for fleet honors.

Football teams from California, Colorado, West Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee, New Mexico, Mississippi, Idaho, Arizona, New York and Pennsylvania will have it out this year for the battle fleet championship. Eleven from the Medina, Procyon, hospital ship Relief, Cayana and Arctic are also in the running.

More than 20,000 fans are expected to see the opening clash on Saturday. The Navy itself will send a well over 2,000 sailors, and the football addicts of the surrounding harbor towns will probably fill out the list. There are two turf fields in the Point Fermin stadium.

PARIS AMUSED AT OUR GENE TUNNEY

PARIS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Paris newspapers expressed amusement today over Gene Tunney's clash with a photographer yesterday after the heavyweight champion had spoken at the American Club luncheon.

"If you take another foot of film of me, I may have to chastise you," the boxer said to a motion-picture cameraman.

"As to character," Le Matin remarked today, "the operator who tried to take him does not question the (Tunney) has plenty of that."

Le Petit Parisien put this caption over its account of Tunney's speech: "Gene Tunney speaks well, but boxes better. He is not always very compliant."

L'Auto said that it must be agreed that Tunney speaks in a way which many persons who consider themselves eloquent might envy.

Corbett Faces Baker Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Young Corbett III, coming out of California to set the East, and particularly the stout-hearted Sammy Baker, on fire with his power in his left hand, will tackle the soldier-battler from Garden tomorrow night in a twelve-round welterweight fracas.

Corbett, fresh from a five-round knockout over Nick Tuto, one of the New York State Athletic Commission's logical contenders for Joe Dundee's 141-pound crown, has only to bowl Baker over to become the recognized challenger. Corbett, a slashing southpaw from Fresno, Cal., has defeated Jack Thompson, the negro who knocked out Dundee recently.

NICK LUTZE LOOKS GOOD IN WORKOUT FOR MALCEWICZ

In the stiffest workout he has had since he went into training for his finish mat battle with Joe Malcewicz scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night, Nick Lutze, the popular Chicago heavyweight grappler, proved to the satisfaction of several mat experts who were on hand to watch him, that he had not only perfected a great defense against the backward body-slam, his opponent's pet hold, but that he also was a past master with a body slam and flying mare, himself.

Lutze flattened out four of his training partners with the flying tangle and slam holds in two and a half hours he worked out on the mat yesterday. There was more speed, snap and action to his wrestling yesterday than he has ever shown in any of his mat battles, the experts who watched him reported. On his showing in the gymnasium yesterday he was rated above Malcewicz for this bout.

Shortly before he started slipping his trainers around the ring, Nick demonstrated his "break" for the overhead slam. The defense, it was reported, is intended to throw Malcewicz completely off balance as he applies the hold, and place him in a position where Lutze can crash him into the mat with little effort. If Lutze is able to make the defense work against the "Panther," he will have been the first one to turn the trick. Champions and near-champions of the last five years who have faced Malcewicz have tried to get away from being thrown with the grip, and have failed.

Because he feels sure that Malcewicz will attempt to put him out of the running as soon as possible by slamming him on his head with his pet grip, Lutze has turned to the slam holds himself for winning grips. Malcewicz has defeated his last two opponents by injuring them, and Lutze is taking no chances on being the third. He hopes to slip Malcewicz on his head before the latter throws him.

The match is expected to be one of the closest and most sensational ever seen at the Olympic, and the advance sale indicates a near-record crowd will be on hand to witness it. Two other big bouts are being lined up by the promoter for this card.

HOLLYWOOD TO HONOR AIR VICTOR

Winner of Flight Guest of Legion at Bert Colima, Burns Bout

As an added attraction to the Bert Colima-Oakland Johnny Burns main event Friday night at the Hollywood American Legion stadium, Manager Tom Gally has arranged with Manager Cliff Henderson of the air mail at Mines Field for the winner of the New York to Los Angeles nonstop flight to be the honored guest and to receive a gold wrist watch from Hollywood Post of American Legion just before the main event. The flyer will be called to the center of the ring to receive his gift.

The main event is raring to go, according to the press-agents. Colima has been cheering up unusually well in his workouts at the Main street "gym" where he is training. The Mexican is going to leave nothing undone to win the championship fight. There has been the usual heavy advance sale that goes with the announcement that Colima is one of the headliners. Those who don't go to see the Mexican will want to see him lose so there is an equal feeling, both ways.

The entire card has been built around the middleweight. There should be plenty of excitement as the main event figures to be a sweet bout. Backing it up is a pair of fast bantamweights in the semi-wind-up. Ray McIntyre and Flash Hastings have been seen in action but it is their first meeting. McIntyre is a rugged kid and a trifle smarter than Hastings. McIntyre should cop.

If Nick Antonelli is half as good as his reputation he will make tough going for Clayton Goyard in the special. Being a home-town boy and a mighty good one has made Goyard the favorite. The three top spots figure to be as interesting fights as Hollywood has had this year.

MRS. BUNDY IN TENNIS VICTORY of Menlo Park and Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles and Doris and Violet Doug were winners.

Helen Mayhew of Los Angeles and Vines were winners in the mixed doubles.

Should Chicago or St. Louis win the National League pennant, the tentative schedule opens in the series October 1, with another game in the American League Park on the 4th.

Should Chicago or St. Louis win the National League pennant, there will be an off day for traveling with the series being resumed in one of the two cities on October 8 and continuing for three days. The last two games, if necessary, will be played in the American League club's park.

If the New York Giants, Cincinnati or Pittsburgh come through in the National League race the series will be resumed in the National League park on October 8.

Commissioner Landis has issued invitations to representatives of the New York and Philadelphia clubs of the American League and the St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati clubs of the National circuit to attend the meeting.

BERKELEY, Sept. 12. (Exclusive) Despite the present unavailability of West Field, now being torn up for construction purposes, Coach Carl Zamboni will usher in the practice season for the University of California freshmen and varsity soccer teams Tuesday afternoon, he announced late today. The varsity, under Capt. Herb Jensen, will have a number of veterans to work with, while the fresh for the first time in many seasons, will be abetted with the influx of a number of experienced high-school players.

Miller, a home-town boy and a mighty good one has made Goyard the favorite. The three top spots figure to be as interesting fights as Hollywood has had this year.

Lehigh University tennis team and now a vendor of insurance.

Hunter's vicious drives sent Borotra, the inimitable "Bouncing Basque" of French tennis history, toppling to defeat by scores of 6-4, 5-7, 6-0, 6-2.

Fully as heroic if not so successful was the part played by Mercer when in the fading light of dusk, he battled Cochet stroke for stroke before he finally succumbed to the genius of the marvelous French player.

George Lott, the spectacular young Davis Cup player from Chicago and Gregory Marglin, promising Newark (N. J.) member of the rising American tennis generation, shared with Hunter the honor and peculiar thrill of triumphing over French opponents.

Lott steamed through the defense of Bousquet, the left-handed French newcomer of 20, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, while Marglin sprang considerably more of a surprise, in defeating De Buzet, the conqueror yesterday of Wilmer Allison, by scores of 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

BRUGNON WINS
"Toto" Brugnon, the lone French player besides Cochet who survived the American onslaught, fully earned his quarterfinal bracket by scoring a noteworthy victory over Dr. George King of New York, who stopped John Hennessey in the first round. Brugnon won from the medical, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Still another foreigner besides the two French managed to come through the third round of fighting. He was Jack Crawford of Australia, who in doing so upset Johnny Van Ryn, the former Princeton star and one of the best of the United States players, 4-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2, 6-3.

England's last survivor, "Bunny" Austin, was eliminated, however, at the hands of John Doeg after a long-drawn five-set match, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. The other match of the eight which held the attention of a gallery of 6000 persons for most of the afternoon and part of the evening, was an all-American affair, and incidentally the only one without an international tinge. In it Frank Shields of New York, the national junior champion, turned back Harris Coughenbush of Des Moines, Iowa, 11-9, 6-2, 6-2.

His thrilling conquest of Borotra, Hunter reached the apex of his game and realized an ambition of two seasons of campaigning. This sturdy player with a matchless forward drive, came from behind to win after being outclassed in the first set and easily bested in the second.

All was changed in the third set but still there was little room for rejoicing. Borotra, apparently tired, obviously elected to chuck this set and make his bid after the intermission. He did so, with the least effort, possible, hanging balls out or into the net with a smile and perhaps with his tongue in his cheek.

HUNTER RESTS BEST
They rested in the ten-minute period allowed, but it must have been Hunter who rested best. Borotra took the first two games and even continued on to lead at 4-3 in games, with victory in sight. Here was the turning point of the match. Shot by shot, Hunter forged ahead to win four straight games, all of them deuced and hard-fought, to take the set. They stood all square.

The last set was a revelation, a sight of one of the greatest last-ditch fighters in sport on the trail of the kill. Borotra took the first two games, both on his service, as Hunter tore ahead to win the match. Turning, he ran headlong for the clubhouse, while the crowd broke into a roar.

DEER SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

The deer season in most of the State, at least the best parts of the State, will open next Sunday, it was learned from Pete Peterson, hunting authority for the B. H. Dyer Company stores, yesterday. The season will open in districts 14, 15, which are comprised of the northern counties of the State and in districts 1, 4, 4 1/2 and 4 3/4, comprised of the Southern California and Sierra Nevada Mountain counties. Big deer abound in the districts to open. Dyer has a Savage rifle up for the hunter who bags the heaviest deer in California this season. All deer to be registered on the prize, must be registered and weighed in at Dyer's downtown store. No affidavits will be accepted.

LOYOLA GRIDDERS STARTED ON 1928 FOOTBALL SEASON

With the initial week of two day practice sessions in their system already, the Loyola College gridgers are well on their present gridiron career.

Cochet-Pecarovich has thirteen letter men and some forty odd other aspirants from which to mold a squad. With the assistance of Richie, last year's frosh coach; Tunney, ex-lion star; Dagley and Haeuser of Santa Clara, things have been moving fast.

Pecarovich has plenty of good backfield talent on hand. His only hope is that they will be able to carry out the Irish shift with effectiveness. He had four different combinations working at it during practice. One combination consisted of "Whitey" Hoffman at quarter, Al Hoefler and Bill Nolan at halves and Ed Mena at full. On another were Jimmy Russell, Eyo Fushik, Ted Von Der Ahe Cochet-Mercer set-to. This remarkable battle, featured by the best tennis seen in the stadium this week, held a crowd of 2000 until its conclusion, long after the normal dinner time.

Mercer, who is ranked 15th in the country this year but has beaten Tilden and George Lott as well as winning and losing in matches with Helen Wills, was at the peak of his game. His deadly placements, swiftly driven after a series of well measured backhand shots, kept Cochet off position, had Cochet guessing throughout the first part of the match and won him the opening set. It was the first set Cochet had lost in the tourney, and the spectators sat up to take notice. The second set went to twenty games before Cochet finally took it. The proved to be the climax of the battle and he drove ahead steadily to take the next two and the match.

Young Mangin is to face Cochet in the quarterfinal round tomorrow while Shields takes on Brugnon in a match which may eliminate another of the invaders.

The schedule of matches tomorrow follows:

James Brugnon, France, vs. Frank Shields, New York.

John Hennessey, N. Y., vs. Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y.

FUENTE BEATEN IN EAST
PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Jack Gagnon, New Bedford heavyweight, won the decision over Tony Fuente, Los Angeles Mexican in ten rounds here tonight. After being dropped in the first round, the count of nine Fuente rallied and finished strong enough to worry Gagnon in the closing round.

hopes of these golfing giants as the field of thirty-two that started this morning was abruptly cut down to a select group of eight. This array is composed of six Americans, led by Jones, and two British contenders led by the great champion, T. P. (Phil) Perkins. The survivors, in the order in which they will start play tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, follow:

Upper half:
Phil Perkins, Great Britain, vs. John Dawson, Chicago.
Dr. Oscar F. Willing, Portland, Or., vs. George Vogt, New York.

Lower half:
Phillips Smyly, Boston, vs. Harris E. (Jimmy) Johnston, St. Paul.
John B. Beck, Great Britain, vs. Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta.

Only a brilliant comeback by Jones, after the worst of the worst, could have saved him in the second round to beat Wright, Jr., of Boston, 3 and 2. Ross Somerville, the Canadian champion, got safely through the first round at the expense of the western champion, Frank Delp of Portland, Or., by a margin of 3 and 1, but the dominion star tossed away a golden chance to beat John Beck, Great Britain, in the second round. Somerville was 1 up going to the seventeenth, but lost that hole, then missed an eight-foot putt by an inch on the home-hole for

Jones, although 45 at the turn, 7 over par, actually managed to square the match on the eighth and ninth, but there were fireworks from then on as both Bobby and his rival fought a desperate battle. Jones' birdie 4 was a good enough to win for Jones at the tenth, where Gordon shot an eagle 3, leaving his score at dead even. Bobby squared the match at the twelfth, but was down again on the next as Gordon bagged a birdie 4. A 11 hole, a birdie, a 3 by Jones on the fifteenth, to again bring about a deadlock that lasted to the deciding hole.

While a huge gallery looked on in the rain, Gordon saved himself on the eighteenth in dramatic fashion, holing an eight-foot putt for a half in his drive, pushing the ball into the rough, playing backward and finally reaching the green on his fourth shot. Jones, on 3, had a twenty-five-foot putt which he kept him from running up around. The latter curled his ball around and into the cup to an accompanying din of cheers, his heroic effort was wasted when he sliced his tee shot on the first extra hole into the rough and lost the match.

Von Elm, the victim of a first day upset for the second straight year, found an enemy in his putter as well as in Yates. The former champion tossed away what few chances he had on the greens while Yates, playing par golf most of the way, took a lead of 3 up at the turn and settled the issue on the sixteenth green. The Rochester star's success was sensational but short-lived for he was put out in the second round by the British champion, Phil Perkins, 3 and 1.

CLOSE CALL
Perkins himself had a close call from elimination in the first round, winning the longest match of the day when he went to the twenty-second hole to beat youthful Donald K. Moe of Portland, Or. 1 up. Moe, 2 up and 3 to go, tossed away his chances on the last three holes. He missed a three-foot putt on the eighteenth green that would have given him victory, after Perkins, with a fine rally, had squared the match on the seventeenth hole.

George Vogt of New York, the most widely known amateur golfer in the country, was defeated by J. M. Sweetser, whom he beat, 3 and 2, in the second round, after disposing of Billy McPhail of Norfolk, Mass., by the same score, in the morning.

Vogt faces another severe test, however, tomorrow when he meets Dr. Willing, who exhibited the most sensational consistent golf of the day. The Portland (Or.) dentist, continuing the great pace that he set to qualify yesterday, trounced the southern champion, Wally Gunn of Atlanta, 4 and 2, in the first round and then overwhelmed the British star, Eustace F. Storey, in the second round, 6 and 4.

Dr. Willing was an astonishing and virtually unbeatable form, breaking the resistance of his opponents in both rounds by negotiating the outward nine holes in 34, on under par. Altogether he was three under par in the morning round for fifteen holes and one under par for fourteen holes in the afternoon—a total of twenty-nine holes in four under perfect figures. Gunn cracked under his pace after himself going the first nine in 35 and holding Dr. Willing to a one-hole margin. Storey wilted quicker.

OUIMET BLOWS UP
Oumet's defeat by Phillips Finlay, his Boston fellow-townsmen, was one of the most astonishing of the first round, for the former champion stood 4 up at the eighth, and looked a certain winner, only to collapse on the homeward route. While Oumet was completely losing control of his shots, Finlay squared the match at the fifteenth, took the lead on the seventeenth and ended with a victory by 2 upon the home green. Safely by this test, Finlay had no trouble disposing of John D. Ames of Chicago, in the afternoon, 5 and 4.

Chick Evans, 1927 runner-up, fell in the first round before his fellow-townsmen, John Dawson, who nevertheless had to equal the tournament record of 71, 1 under par, to best the veteran by 2 and 1. Dawson was

COACH PHILBROOK UNEASY

Quaker Grid Mentor at a Loss How to Expand Six Letter Men Into Eleven Positions

WHITTIER, Sept. 12.—Coach George Philbrook at Whittier College is as busy as a one-arm paperhanger these preconference days trying to figure out how to distribute his six letter men to the best advantage on the line and in the backfield where a rigid football rule discourages the use of less than eleven players.

"Speed" Weaver, all-conference end of last season will captain the Quakers, and, according to gridiron gossip, will probably be shifted to fullback on account of his good right arm in passing and his educated toe in kicking. Speaking of passing, last year he made a record pass of sixty-four yards to Walker for a touchdown in the Arizona State University game. His punting is said to rival his passing. He has valuable hands and hoofs and he fairly said athletics. He had two conference honors last year; aside from football he was chosen all-conference forward in basketball, and he holds a wicket willow in baseball.

Ashion is slated for center with Sheldon and Cleveland, whose combined weight is 350 pounds, for guards. For tackles, Philbrook has Miller, Harris, Cooper and Hansen, and for ends there is not a great deal of choice between George, Twenty, Gates and Sanderson. George is the boy with the nimble feet.

"Dink" Walker, the 140-pounder who last year electrified the conference with his speed and ability to get there, will again play half, and the other position of half will probably be filled by Payne. Just who is to sing the signals is not announced. It may be Weaver.

The 1928-29 coaching staff will consist of Philbrook, director of athletics, and football and track coach; Johns, assistant football and head coach in basketball; Brown, physical education and frosh athletics; Kellogg, trainer and frosh athletics.

Whittier's football schedule is: September 29—U.S.A. Pennsylvania at Whittier.
October 6—Redlands at Whittier.
October 13—La Verne at Whittier.
October 20—Occidental at Rose Bowl.
October 27—San Diego at Whittier.
November 12—Armistice Day—Pomona at Whittier.
November 19—Caltech at Whittier.
November 26—Arizona at Tucson.

Johnston completed the third-round brackets with two victories over New England youths, beating T. Sufferer Teller, Jr., of Newport, R. I. in the first round, 3 and 1, and eliminating George T. Dunlap, Jr., of Maplewood, N. H., in the next 3 and 2.

Eliminate valve-grinding with this of "endurance beyond belief."

Stops carbon trouble, too

Stability The new Cylcol will stand the hardest kind of usage. It is refined to meet the severer conditions of heat and pressure developed by the modern high compression engines, assuring you an unbroken oil film where heat, pressure and friction are greatest.

No Acids The new Cylcol refining process eliminates the use of acids, though most refiners use them. While acids clear the "crude oil" they chemically change its structure and composition, thus seriously cutting its lubricating value.

Such oils break down under engine temperatures. They distill off and escape as vapor through the breather exhaust.

The new refining process of Cylcol selects from the "crude" those elements of greatest lubricating value and stability in performance, rejecting those elements which readily break down under engine heat and cause excessive carbon deposits.

So Cylcol gives a protective oil film on cylinder walls and moving parts, not vapor at the breather pipe.

Less Carbon As to carbon, Cylcol like all oils deposits some carbon. But it deposits less carbon than any other oil. The most exhaustive tests have proven that statement.

Even more important, the carbon that is deposited by Cylcol is soft and easily removable. It is not hard or sticky and cannot scratch a cylinder.

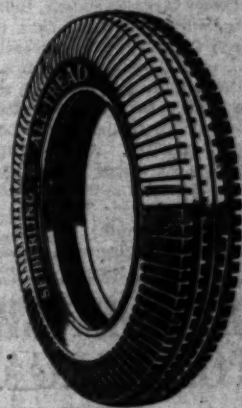

Prove it yourself Cylcol gives you the finest results you have ever known—more perfect lubrication, "endurance beyond belief" and the elimination of carbon troubles.

So fill your crank case with Cylcol. You can identify it by the new transparent green-gold color. Sold wherever the Associated Gasoline and Cylcol Motor Oil signs are shown. ASSOCIATED OIL COMPANY, Refiners

SHOOTING HELD REVENGE

Police See Reprisal for Lombardo Killing in Attempt on Life of Chicago Italian

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Possible reprisal for the slaying of Tony Lombardo, Chicago gangster, and a bodyguard on a downtown street last week, was seen by police today when a man who said he is Joseph De Falco, staggered into a hospital probably fatally wounded and fell unconscious after gasping out the name and a story that he had been shot by robbers in a hold-up. He was rushed to the operating table in an effort to save his life.

De Falco, 24 years of age, was taken to the hospital in an automobile by a man who said he is his brother, but who left immediately. The man, who was shot through the abdomen, said he was wounded this morning by a man who tried to hold him up, but the police placed little credence in this story and preferred to believe that the shooting was in revenge for the killing of Lombardo and his bodyguard.

The new development came shortly after John Stege, deputy commissioner of police, had attributed the slaying of Lombardo directly to the feud between the gang headed by Lombardo and "Scarface" Al Capone and the North Side gang headed by Vincent "Vic" Aiello, Jack and Zita.

Stege said the case was completed except for the names of the slayers, and he expected to clear it up within two weeks. He disclosed that the detectives have been frequenting gang houses over since the slaying looking for Zita and Dominick and Joe Aiello.

SUIT FILED ON CAPONE'S MIAMI HOME

Foreclosure of Mortgage Sought in Litigation Naming Gang Chief

MIAMI (Fla.) Sept. 12. (AP)—A suit to foreclose a mortgage on the winter home here of Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, and request that the court appoint a receiver to take over the property pending litigation, were filed in Dade County Circuit Court by J. W. Popham, former owner, against Parker A. Henderson, son of a former Mayor of Miami, and Mrs. Mae Capone, joined by her husband, Al Capone. Popham in his suit sets forth that Henderson entered into an agreement to purchase the Palm Island property from him for $30,000. The indebtedness was secured by a mortgage deed on the house and lot. Three promissory notes of $10,000 each were signed by Henderson for the property and the deal was consummated on April 2, last.

The Capone are mentioned in the suit as nonresidents of Dade county with their legal residence believed to be in Cook county, Illinois. Henderson is called an agent for the Capone in the transaction. The defendants also, according to the suit, have failed and refused to pay the indebtedness or any part of it.

Southland Delegation to Holland Returns Soon

Resolution Passed Against Communist Thesis

BY KENNETH H. ROBINSON
California Tech Delegate to the Youth Peace Congress
PARIS, Aug. 27. (By Correspondence)—After ten days of the most invigorating contact, the 800 delegates representing some of the most intelligent youth movements in the world broke camp on the morning of August 27 at Berde, Holland and literally scattered to the farthest corners of the earth. It has been the most representative group ever called together in the name of youth and the results may well be expected to be far-reaching.

The camp was on one of Holland's hills, and pine trees and healthy true press reports and out of doors a favorite sport.

FEW RESOLUTIONS PASSED

It was decided early in the congress that it was not to be a "resolution passing" conference. Therefore, the most important work was done in the commissions, which met for four days to discuss separate phases of the whole subject.

The congress accepted the main tenet of the race commission unanimously, namely, that "the congress supports unreservedly the fundamental principle of the equality of all races; the formula of race superiority is used by the imperialists to justify the exploitation of weaker peoples." Another important statement of policy, while not passed by the entire congress, received an overwhelming majority, was: "The congress believes that methods of violence will not bring effective peace." This denied the Communist thesis and put the congress on record as favoring non-violence in the work for the peace of the world.

FUTURE MOVES MAPPED

In the reports of the commissions were to be found practical suggestions which may be carried out in the future. Among these was the setting-up of a standing international commission which, in connection with the League of Nations, shall examine history, geography texts according to definite principles, eliminating anything scientifically unsound or anything expressing excessive nationalism, prejudiced comments or unfriendly feeling toward other nations.

The use, as far as possible, of text books of the foreign country about which the pupil is studying. Only true press reports and unbiased moving pictures should be used.

NEWS SERVICE ACCEPTED

Among the university group of the American delegation, a plan for a news service covering the interesting spots of the entire world was fully worked out and accepted. The Southern California delegation was responsible for this.

Four of the Southern California delegates will return about the 22nd inst. for the opening of their universities. They are K. H. Robinson of California Technology, Don Leifer of University of California at Los Angeles, Hunter Mead of Pomona and Lorell Weiss, La Verne; Chester Williams of University of California plans to study and write in Germany and also edit the 1500 feet of educational film which the Southern California delegation has taken during the summer, while Arthur White, graduate of University of California in the spring, will attend Harvard and handle one of the offices of the International News Service in the East.

MOSLEM SAINT WITHOUT HONOR IN HIS OWN COUNTRY ARRESTED

PERHAWAR, PUNJAB (British India) Sept. 12. (AP)—The Moslem Saint Hazrat Sahib, has been arrested in Afghanistan for opposing reforms decreed by King Amanullah after the latter's return from his European tour. It is reported that he especially opposed compulsory education for women and the abolition of the screen used to separate women of a household from male members of the family or visitors.

Hazrat, who wields a great influence in Afghanistan, was a favorite of Amanullah's predecessor. A number of his followers also were arrested, according to the dispatches which state that they were escorted by troops to Kabul, the capital.

or any of his employees for violating criminal provisions of the 1927 Radio Act.

The bill of complaint says the provisions of this act are so severe as to entail possible fines of $150,000 and imprisonment for 150 years if the station operates in a power in excess of that assigned to it for a period of one month, adding that such provisions intimidate operators of stations from asserting their legal rights.

The order reducing the station's power from 500 to 150 watts is described as "a ruthless, arbitrary and confiscatory ruling, attempting to deprive your creator of property of great value without due process of law."

The bill also charges that "there are large private interests, engaged in broadcasting, who have concentrated upon the development of what is known as 'chain broadcasting' through a relatively small number of high-powered stations who are endeavoring to eliminate from competition as many broadcasting stations as possible by having them reduced into low-powered stations."

BRITONS PLAN CANADA TREK

Rumor That 2,000,000 Will Move to Dominion

Governments to Finance Wholesale Move

Conference in Geneva Held by Two Premiers

OTTAWA (Ont.) Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—The greatest population movement in history involving the transportation of 2,000,000 Britons to Canada is being planned by the British and Canadian governments.

This rumor, which sprang up in the Canadian capital yesterday, now is accepted inasmuch as immigration officials today do not wholly deny it.

Whether it is to be 2,000,000 or not, there obviously is brewing a move toward wholesale transportation of British settlers to the Dominion. Premier King of Canada conferred with Premier Baldwin in Geneva yesterday.

Mon. Peter Clarkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, soon was called into council, and now William J. Egan, Canadian deputy commissioner of immigration at Ottawa, has received word to himself quickly to London. Canadian public opinion is not unanimous that Canada is in need of any huge number of immigrants.

SLAYER OF FOUR POISONED

Percy G. Barnes Discovered Dead in His Cell at Sacramento, Presumably a Suicide

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Percy G. Barnes, confessed slayer of four of his ex-wife's relatives, was found dead in his cell in the County Jail tonight. He is believed to have committed suicide.

It is believed by jailers that Barnes died of cyanide poisoning. They expressed the belief tonight that the poison was concealed in his clothing when he was taken to the County Jail.

His body was found by two trustees ten minutes after he had chatted with Jailer Jess Carter. He appeared happy and in good health when talking to Carter.

City Physician McDonald, who examined the body at the City Emergency Hospital, said there was no outward sign of poisoning. An autopsy has been ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

A note was found near the body, which read:

"Della, remember what I told you."

Near the note was a package of chewing gum.

Della is his ex-wife.

Barnes was to have been arraigned Friday on a grand-jury indictment charging him with murder.

He is accused of having gone on a wild rampage on the evening of August 27, which resulted in the fatal shooting of Charles E. Curtis and Charles Kline, brothers-in-law; Len Gearhart, his ex-wife's cousin; and Clarence Muncy, said to be her lover, and the wounding of M. H. Larkin. Barnes, it had been announced recently by his attorney, planned to plead guilty by reason of insanity.

NERVIEST AUTO THIEF HUNTED

Some One Walks Right Into Police Garage and Takes Car

Imagine the embarrassment of Capt. Sweeney, division of the transportation division of the police department, when he was informed upon his arrival at work yesterday that some one had walked right into the main police garage at Temple and Hill streets and stolen one of the police cars.

The theft occurred, according to Capt. Sweeney, some time during the night before. A thorough investigation was ordered by the captain. Fingerprint experts spent an hour examining the walls and railings inclosing the stall in which the car was parked, while a description of the car was contained on the list of stolen cars held by police officers throughout the city.

John De Muth, 31 years of age of 1922 East First street, ended a career of spectacular driving last night at the Hollenbeck Heights Police alarm which went out after Joseph Rivetti, 12, of 2630 Eagle street, had been knocked down by a hit-and-run driver in front of 518 Lorena street. The boy was taken to the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from chest injuries, possible internal injuries and shock.

De Muth made his capture easier by picking as his next target an automobile owned by a policeman which was standing in front of a police station. It was three-quarters of an hour after the report of the running down of the boy that De Muth crashed his car into that of Patrolman Berger which was parked before the Boyle Heights Station.

De Muth led the officers a chase before he was caught by Patrolman Woods at Fourth and Moor streets.

ORPHEUM MANAGER LEAVES

George Sackett Succeeded by Fred Campbell After Survey of Conditions by Singer

George C. Sackett, manager of the Orpheum Theater for the past five years, has been replaced by Fred Campbell of the Hillstreet Theater, and Mr. Sackett has severed connection with the vaudeville circuit. It was admitted last night by Harry Singer, manager of the west coast division.

The replacement came suddenly at the conclusion of a two weeks survey of the local theater started on Mr. Singer's return from New York four weeks ago, and became effective two weeks ago, Mr. Singer said.

For the first time since the walk-out of usherettes and floor directors last Sunday, Mr. Singer revealed that the replacement of Mr. Sackett apparently was the cause of the employees' grievances. They were replaced in a few hours.

Mr. Sackett's replacement was felt a necessity in the interest of rectifying conditions with which he was confronted, Mr. Singer said, "but I assure you his departure from the Orpheum was with the deepest and friendliest feelings on the part of Mr. Sackett and myself," he added.

Mr. Singer said that no general shake-up in the staff of thirty persons is contemplated.

Edward D. Patterson has replaced Ray Perry as treasurer, and a change in assistant superintendents was the other move made by Mr. Singer.

Mr. Campbell's appointment to head the Orpheum, which is one of the finest showhouses in the country, will be permanent, Mr. Singer said.

Future plans of Mr. Sackett could not be learned last night. He is reported to be in San Francisco.

Before leaving the Orpheum, however, he indicated that he may book acts of his own or may go to New York. Mr. Singer said that the offices of the Orpheum "will be open to Mr. Sackett in this new work if he decides to undertake it and I believe it is a field which he will enjoy."

Before coming to Los Angeles Mr. Sackett managed theaters in Winnipeg and Minneapolis. He resides at 406 West Adams street.

Largest Shopping Areas Compared in Population

Here are the 15 largest shopping areas in the United States listed according to population. Each shopping area consists of a central city together with its tributary retail zone. The figures show what per cent of the country's population each shopping area contains.

It will be noted that the shopping areas do not rank in the same order as the cities taken by themselves. Boston, for instance, rates 10th as a city but 4th as a shopping area.

Shopping Area	Population Per Cent of U.S. Total
New York	7.05%
Chicago	3.43%

Los Angeles Shopping Area Analyzed by Itself

The figures below give a more detailed picture of the Los Angeles shopping area. Facts are shown for the shopping area, as a whole, for the city taken by itself, and for the shopping zone outside the city. The Los Angeles shopping zone is the only large market in the United States where the tributary zone has a higher per capita income tax rating than the city proper.

Facts Summarized and What They Signify

The Los Angeles shopping area rates 7th in population, 6th in number of income tax returns, 5th in number of large income tax returns, and 1st in per capita income tax returns, hence it is outstandingly one of the country's major markets. The adjacent territory contains 64% as many income tax payers as the city proper, and has a higher average purchasing power, hence the zone tributary to Los Angeles is an extremely important part of the Los Angeles shopping area.

How "Times" Circulation Fits the Market

Every shopping area differs from others. Some consist almost wholly of the central city; in others the surrounding zone is more important. Some have a large population of poor people; in others the purchasing power is well distributed. In each case conditions prescribe what kind of newspaper circulation is most effective. The Times prints herewith a brief analysis of local conditions, pointing out how the Los Angeles Times fits the facts.

How It Reaches Purchasing Power

In a community where a large part of the population is at or above the income-tax level, the dominant type of circulation is bound to be home-delivered. As a matter of fact, home-delivery appeals to all, but, since it requires monthly payment, it tends to weed out the hand-to-mouth buyer and automatically reaches those who have a surplus above necessities.

Since the Los Angeles shopping area contains more income tax payers per population than any other large market in the United States, it is natural that here home-delivered circulation should be especially supreme. Los Angeles Times fits this fact. It brings to bear on the Los Angeles market the largest home-delivered circulation in the West.

How It Is Market-Wide

The shopping zone outside Los Angeles contains approximately as many income tax payers as live in San Francisco, and these have a high average purchasing power. Moreover, while city buyers may be influenced by street extras, domestic, electric signs, and all the other variety of advertising that abound in a city, out in the surrounding zone there is no such multiplicity of advertising. Any newspaper that covers the surrounding region not only taps a big market but a large extent secures the undivided attention of these buyers.

Los Angeles Times meets this condition by being a newspaper for the whole Los Angeles shopping area. It does more than cover the territory with circulation. It is an all-zone newspaper in spirit! The Times believes in the common destiny of the whole trading area, is interested in all its parts, prints news for everybody, and by serving all it best serves each.

How It Is Concentrated

Finally, the Los Angeles shopping area is sharply defined. A system of mountains, rising from the ocean back to the ocean, encloses the region in what is essentially a gigantic wall. The wall averages 20 miles thick, and beyond it is nearly all directions are vast stretches of desert. Such a condition is strikingly unlike that of most large cities, where shopping boundaries are vague and where trade is drawn from other large cities, often within half an hour's automobile drive. The effect of this singular condition is apparent. In the Los Angeles market, a "city-type" paper, depending on street sales and circulating within the city limits, covers too little. A "magazine-type" paper, designed for distant readers, must jump the wall and cross the desert, it goes to far. Conditions call for a newspaper which, while covering the whole, is concentrated therein.

Los Angeles Times meets this condition by furnishing a circulation which in concentration has few if any parallels in the United States. Its whole circulation policy is based on the conviction that one copy of a newspaper read carefully in its own field is worth twenty copies read casually in a field far away.

Here is a comparison between the Los Angeles Times and the leading advertising mediums in each of the five largest shopping areas. The figures apply to Sunday circulations, and show in each case what percentage of the total paid circulation is concentrated in the city and suburbs.

LOS ANGELES TIMES	85%
New York Times	55%
Chicago Tribune	50%
Philadelphia Enquirer	45%
Boston Globe	40%
Pittsburgh Press	35%

An advertiser, reading what The Times says about itself, might justifiably ask for corroborative evidence. Such evidence is furnished daily, every day, every month, every year. The Times every day, every month, every year, prints more advertising than any other local or western newspaper—millions of lines more every year. Business men would not do this unless the results backed up their judgment. They find that what does happen and what ought to happen are one and the same thing.

PLANE-STAGE LINE PROJECTED

Pickwick System Organized Airways Company

Operate Jointly With New Nitcoaches

For Ten Craft Given Venice Concern

Operation by the Pickwick Stages of airplane passenger service through the formation of the Airways, Inc., was announced yesterday by C. F. Wren, president of the Pickwick Stages.

This will be the first attempt to link airplane and automobile transportation.

The new system will operate along the coast from San Diego to San Francisco and will be used on the Los Angeles-Chicago route by a daily service under schedule. At the same time, the system will make direct connections for New York and other coast cities.

The new system will be able to make the trip from Los Angeles to San Francisco in less than 24 hours and one day. The Nitcoaches are equipped for 100 passengers and a complete dining service.

The High Air Yachts are to be used with Pratt and Whitney engines, developing 1000 horsepower. Two planes will be on duty at all times and the machines will be equipped with dual controls.

Passengers for Chicago will leave Los Angeles in the evening aboard the Nitcoaches and will start the air journey at Phoenix, Arizona. The journey will take about 10 hours and will end at St. Paul, from which point a transfer is made to the Nitcoaches.

METAL MARKET STATUS STRONG

Price Situation Unchanged at Previous Levels

Zinc Shade Firmer Owing to Curtailed Production

Lead and Copper Positions Continue Favorable

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

Editor of the Mining Journal, Phoenix
There is nothing in the present metal situation to indicate any early changes in prices. All the metals standing strong at the same prices as a week ago. Zinc, which has been slightly weaker than lead and copper, has strengthened somewhat due to reported production curtailment. Copper is quoted at delivery through October at 14.52 cents F.O.B. refinery, lead at 6.40 cents F.O.B. New York. The slight premium asked at St. Louis for October delivery and zinc at 6.25 cents F.O.B. St. Louis for immediate and future delivery.

No material change exists in the zinc situation. It is possible that the reports of curtailment of production may induce greater confidence in the present price, as the situation has not been such as to induce any confidence. However, curtailment reports have been so frequent without material basis that the buyers are going to have to see the figures over a several weeks' period and, furthermore, know that the reduction of production scale will reduce ore stocks rather than merely balance shipments.

ZINC OUTPUT DROPS

Reports from the Tri-State district indicate about a 10 per cent reduction in zinc production, or about 1200 tons less per week. Some of the operators are reducing to a five or four-day schedule, while others have stopped indefinitely. The weakness of the situation is that there is no uniformity, some taking more of the burden of curtailment than others with nothing to reconcile the diverse individual interests.

To some extent, it is the "survival of the fittest," for many mines and leases cannot profitably operate on the present $40 zinc and $80 lead basis. The larger companies are contributing their full share to the curtailment programs, while the smaller ones are struggling for existence on present prices.

LEAD MARKET FAVORABLE

Urgent calls for lead for immediate shipment from consumers who were thought to be well stocked up ahead, has been a favorable feature of the market. The demand for lead has been good, although there has been no marked disposition on the part of the consumers to cover their future requirements. Lead is selling at 6.40 cents in New York and 6.22 cents in St. Louis, but sellers in the latter city are asking 6.25 cents for metal for October delivery. The lead market is active and favorable.

Harvard Survey Shows Need of Economics in Store Operations

(Copyright, 1928, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A study of operating expenses of department stores and specialty shops made by the Harvard Bureau of Business Research at the instance of the National Retail Dry Goods Association is interesting to holders of securities in the retail field.

Increased expenses in ratio to net sales for department stores with sales over $1,000,000 and for department stores and specialty shops with sales below $1,000,000 were revealed. The only group to show a lower total expense percentage in 1927 as compared with 1926 was that of specialty stores with sales over $1,000,000; this was the only group to improve its profit showing for 1927 over 1926.

Profit ratios were generally low, according to the study, this trend being attributed to a decrease in sales and a corresponding increase in operating expenses.

Direct correspondence was again shown to exist between volume of sales and the rate of profit or loss, the larger firms making the better showing. Expenses tended to be higher for firms with the higher volume of sales, but gross margin also was enough higher so that the net profit was more favorable.

The importance of stock-turn, long recognized in department-store management, was again stressed by proof that faster turnover contributed to larger profits. This result commonly is attained, not by higher gross margin, but primarily because of lower operating expenses. As in previous years, those firms which reported high profits for 1927 commonly secured these results primarily because of low operating expenses, rather than because of high gross margins. Had those firms which made the poorest profit showing operated as economically as did the firms which made the best profit showing, they would have secured at least some net profits in spite of their relatively low gross margins.

The tendency, evident for several years, for distribution costs to increase, the fact that firms securing high net profits commonly accomplished this result because of low operating expenses, and the direct relationship appearing between the rate of sales increase or decrease and expense ratios clearly indicate the need for more thoroughgoing expense control and more careful sales planning on the part of department stores," the report says. "While gross margin in numerous instances has shown some tendency to increase year by year, it seems clear that it is becoming increasingly difficult to continue raising gross margin in the hopes of covering operating expenses. The statements of the stores showing high net profits indicate that economies are possible in expense ratios."

Production of Cottonseed Oil

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Cottonseed crushed during the thirty-day period from August 1 to August 31, totaled 73,795 tons compared with 159,554 tons for the same period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills August 31 totaled 117,484 tons compared with 206,433 tons a year ago, the Census Bureau announced today.

Cottonseed products manufactured during the period and on hand August 31: Crude oil produced, 35,852,435 pounds, compared with 33,244,241 in 1927; refined oil produced, 29,777,481 pounds, compared with 27,300,000 in 1927; cake and meal produced, 1,109,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,044,000,000 in 1927; larders, 1,044,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,044,000,000 in 1927.

Milk Products Concern Formed

ANTIGO (Wis.) Sept. 12.—(Exclusive)—J. L. Kraft, chairman of the board of Kraft-Phenix Cheese Company, announced today the organization of the Kraft-Phenix Milk Products Company, with a capital of $1,000,000, with headquarters at Antigo.

The new company will do business as a milk and by-products concern, operating with a total of 500,000 pounds of milk a day. It will take over the Kraft plant at Antigo, the Birmahwood-Whitener plant and the Kraft plant at Waupun, which is a combination city milk and milk plant. It is expected that the new plants at Milan will be taken into the consolidation.

END OF BULL MARKET REGARDED UNCERTAIN

CONTINUATION FORECAST BY MCNEEL SERVICE UNTIL MONEY FINCH COMES

That the stock market will hold along until there is an actual shortage of funds for speculative purposes is the opinion of McNeel's Financial Service as expressed in its latest issue of bulletins. McNeel's says in its current bulletin:

"The broad trend in the stock market is upward, and though the increase in the volume of business suggests a weakened technical condition, there is reason to expect that the market will continue to hold along for some little time, as it did last spring. There are speculative danger signals but they have not been in evidence sufficiently long, in the present temper of the market, to mark an immediate end of the present upward movement."

"It would seem as though the Federal Reserve authorities have abandoned their active attempts to release credit for commercial purposes by bringing about liquidation in the stock market. It is not improbable that the market will hold along until there is an actual shortage of funds for speculative purposes, which would be indicated by a rate for call money much higher than that of today. We anticipate a continuation of the market for the present with strength in specialties which are not overvalued, or which appeal to the speculative imagination."

Fishers to Get Seat on Board of New York Road

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(Exclusive)—The Fisher brothers of Detroit, industrialists of the new generation, have bought their way into the New York Central hierarchy and will share control of that road with Frederick W. Vanderbilt and Harold H. Vanderbilt, members of the family that has dominated the road since the early days of its history. Rebuffed by the New York Central management, the Fishers bought their way in by purchase of the road's stock in the open market.

The accession of the Fishers to the New York Central hierarchy became known today through the announcement that Fred J. Fisher had been elected to the board of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway, the Big Four, most important subsidiary of the system. Following this announcement, it was learned that Mr. Fisher on his own initiative had been elected to the directorate of the controlling corporation at a directors' meeting scheduled for October 10.

Mr. Fisher was elected to the Big Four board with Frank C. Rand, president of the International Shoe Company of St. Louis. Mr. Fisher succeeds the late Chauncey M. Depey and Mr. Rand succeeds the late F. J. Jerome of Cleveland.

DIRIGIBLE ERA EXPECTED NEXT

Los Angeles-Honolulu Line Sighted by Moffett

Rigid Airships Declared to Have Great Future

Secretary Warner Tells of Navy's Problems

Great dirigible airships plying between Los Angeles and New York and between Los Angeles and Honolulu within a short time were predicted by Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the United States Navy, speaker at a joint Chamber of Commerce-Optimists' Club luncheon in the Billmore yesterday.

"Our Navy has the only large rigid airship in America today—the Los Angeles, named after your city," Admiral Moffett said, "but the government shortly will award contracts for two more larger ones. You will see that they will be the forerunners of commercial ventures in that field. While they will be built for operations over the sea you will see them flying from coast to coast and from Los Angeles to Honolulu, which will be within easy range for them. Then commercial lines of the kind will follow."

"I have as much confidence in the future of lighter-than-air ships as in heavier-than-air planes. Their future will be great."

"I hope one of the lighter-than-air ships that soon are to be built will be made to base here. This is an ideal place for it. We will need at least one square mile for the base and inasmuch as the community where it is based will provide the land I suggest that something be done here about it before the end of the year."

"The first of the two new ships will be completed in about thirty months and must have long range, about eighteen months after that. You will see that they will be the forerunners of a great American merchant marine of the air."

WARNER SPEAKS
R. F. Warner, assistant Secretary of the Navy in charge of aeronautics, was the principal speaker of the luncheon.

"There is every reason to expect that air development will become of increasing importance in naval work," he said. "There must be constant study, trials and experimentation to keep the arm of the Navy prepared for any emergency that might arise to the national defense. There is a great deal more to the development of a naval air arm than merely buying airplanes. There must be pilots and they must be able to fly under conditions and for purposes that will arise in naval defense. The Navy must be prepared to meet any emergency that might arise to the national defense. They must have bases from which to operate."

"We can get an air force only by a continuing system of logical development of air operations and in procuring provision for this I hope the people of the United States will support us."

DISPLAY FRAISED
The two organizations gave the luncheon to honor of various interests here for the national air meet put on by the National Aeronautical Association.

"Never in the history of aviation, either here or abroad, has there ever been such a meet as is taking place here," President Porter Adams of the association told the diners.

"I have never seen anything equal this display in Los Angeles," Assistant Secretary Warner said. President Eastman of the Chamber of Commerce pointed out to the crowd filling the Billmore ballroom that it is Southern California which produced the around-the-world flyers' planes, the Lindbergh plane, the one in which Art Goebel made the record Los Angeles-to-New York flight and the one in which Capt. George H. Wilkins made the famous roof-of-the-world flight across the Arctic wastes from America to Europe.

FIGURES QUOTED
"According to a recent statement of the United States Department of Commerce there are 413 airplanes in private use in the United States," President Eastman said, "and 639 are in California, giving it first place with about one-seventh of the total number. New York State is second with 287 planes."

He urged Army officials at the meeting to use their influence to have Aeronautics Field, presented some years ago to the Army by Los Angeles county, put to fuller use.

Superior Judge Collier of the Optimists' opened the luncheon. Many notable in aeronautics were introduced to the assembly.

WOMEN VOICE LOFTY IDEAL

Twenty-five Form Own Aeronautic Association to Further Air-Mindedness Among Sex

Women have no intention of being relegated to a back seat in matters aerie. Even though, as yet, only comparatively few are qualified to pilot planes, the others at least propose to have a finger in the pie by becoming thoroughly air-minded.

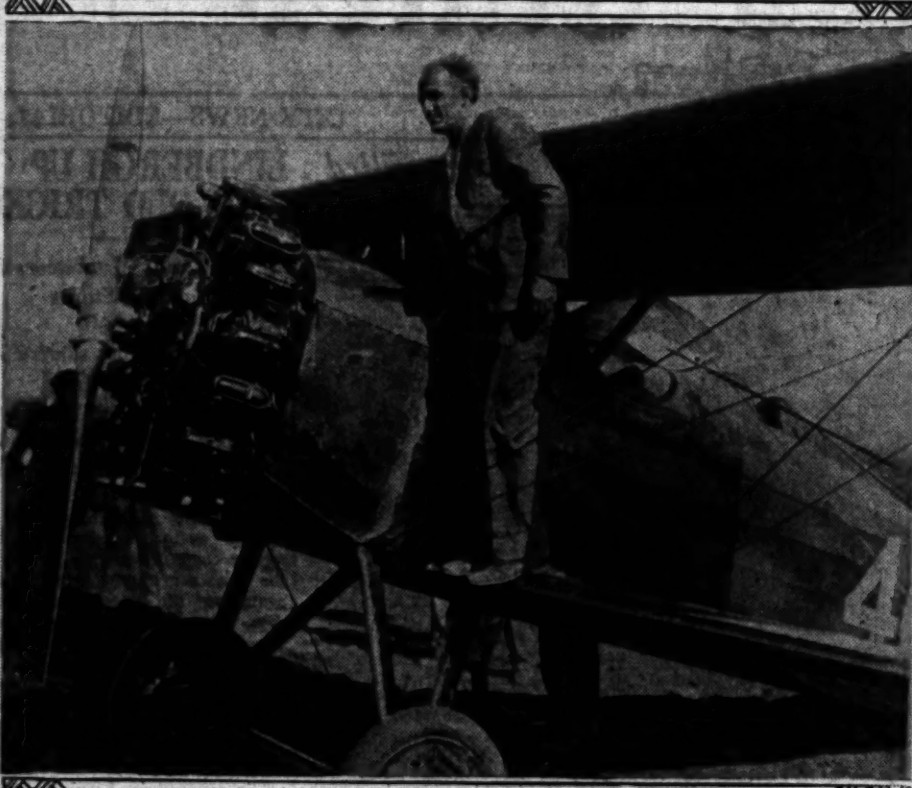

With this in view approximately twenty-five charter members of the Women's Aeronautic Association of California held their first public meeting yesterday at the Ambassador to discuss aviation and the part which they have chosen for their organization in the aerial scheme of things.

The association was formed on the 8th inst., on the inspiration of Mrs. Ulysses Grant McQueen, traveler and lecturer of Beverly Hills, with the avowed purpose of advancing the cause of aeronautics, building up a psychology on the safety of aviation and of educating its members to be air-minded.

SPECIAL GUESTS
In addition to the charter members there were several special guests at the meeting, among them Miss Ruth Elder, who was presented by the first honorary membership of the association, Mrs. Victor H. Ross of Wichita, and Mrs. J. F. Victory of Washington, D. C. These women gave brief accounts of their work women are doing in their homes to advance aviation and Miss Elder pledged her services to the association in any way that it might call upon her.

AERO PROGRESS PRAISED

But Other States Awaken to Benefits of Aviation and Seek California's Crown, Visitor Tells Club

Congratulating Southern California on having "more airports, registered planes, airplane factories, passenger air lines and more aerial passengers than any other section of the United States," Maj. Lester Gardner, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, in an address at the City Club yesterday warned California to "look out for her laurels," declaring other States are awakening to the value of this industry and spending millions of dollars in an endeavor to get ahead of California.

"You who are keeping abreast of things know I am not dealing you a dish of 'apple sauce' when I say that you are the most air-minded and most active community in America," said Maj. Gardner. "Since leaving New York two months ago I have visited twenty-three air centers between the two coasts and I know whereof I speak. We who are used to flying have been thrilled by your great exposition at Mines Field, which surpasses our most golden anticipations. The races, the stunts by the army and navy aircraft and the stupendous aggregation of commercial airships comprise the finest exhibition ever given in the United States."

Evidence of the growing faith of industrial and financial leaders and of the public generally in aircraft industry was cited by Maj. Gardner, who told of the struggle of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce to obtain recognition and support ten years ago.

"More than 5000 planes will be manufactured this year," said Maj. Gardner. "It would be easy to make 10,000 planes if we had the engines to go with them. Next year we probably will make 10,000 engines and as many planes. In 1930 it is estimated that 15,000 engines and planes will be constructed, giving us a fleet of 30,000 airplanes and ships."

Canadain Race Winner to Get Store's Trophy
The winner of the air race from Windsor, Canada, to Mines Field will be presented with a trophy by the Broadway Department Store, Inc. of this city.

Symbolic of the international aspects of the contest, the trophy represents a world conquered by an airplane. Surmounted on a globe thirty-one inches in diameter is a private use in the United States. President Eastman said, "and 639 are in California, giving it first place with about one-seventh of the total number. New York State is second with 287 planes."

He urged Army officials at the meeting to use their influence to have Aeronautics Field, presented some years ago to the Army by Los Angeles county, put to fuller use.

VENICE MAY GET GLIDER FACTORY
A manufacturing plant and school for gliders will be established at Venice if plans launched today by Paul J. Chamberlain said to be the holder of the New Zealand record for motorless air flight, and Harris Orelia, here from New Jersey, are carried out.

The glider they have designed weighs about 175 pounds, and can be manufactured to retail at $100, Venice business men were told.

Chamberlain's glider is said to be the first American-made craft of the kind, and is now in New Jersey awaiting shipment. It has a thirty-two-foot wing span. Equipped with an auxiliary motor, these gliders are said to be capable of making landings at 100 miles an hour. The present work record for motorless flying, fourteen hours and eight minutes, is held by Ferdinand Schults of Germany.

INGLEWOOD CLUB TO FETE FLYERS
A total of 1200 reservations from Lions' Club members in California, Nevada and Arizona have been received by the Inglewood club for the Lions-Famous Flyers luncheon to be given on Mines Field today under auspices of the Inglewood Lions.

District Governor Jack McDonald of Sacramento, who will preside, is planning to fly from San Francisco with a group of other Lions from the bay district. Famous flyers scheduled to arrive in the New York-Los Angeles Non-stop Derby are to be guests of the Lions, as well as other figures prominent in the aviation world.

LINDBERGH UP TO OLD TRICKS
Lindbergh did not lead his companions through the moderate and difficult maneuvers performed by Lieut. Tomlinson, Davis and Storres of the navy aggregation, the spectators seemed to get a tremendous thrill out of the mere fact that they were witnessing the famous aviator in a plane.

WITH OLD BUDDIES
Col. Lindbergh trained at Kelley Field, Texas, with Lieut. Cornelius and Woodring, his flying companions yesterday, as well as with the late Lieut. J. J. Williams who plunged to his death Monday. Perfect confidence in Lindbergh's leadership was shown by the army pilots and close formations in dives and banks were maintained throughout the flight. It was announced Col. Lindbergh will fly with the army pilots every day for the balance of the meet.

"The Three Sea Hawks" always having another new trick to display, again brought cheers with their performance of daring and hazardous maneuvers. The glider is mounted on one of which was the execution simultaneously of a half-loop and flight across the field upside down before completing the entire loop.

During the maneuvering by the army and navy pilots, the planes which had just completed trips across the country and from Oakland were lined up in front of the grand stand. The order in which the transcontinental Class A racers finished, after Ballough and Wood, is as follows:

Don Livingston of Aurora, Ill., Waco plane; Charles W. Meyers, Troy, O.; Edward G. Schults, Cedar; J. S. Soderwald, Parkersburg, Pa.; Cessna; P. R. Brannan, Lees Schoenharz, Los Angeles; I. V. McKinney, Earl White, Los Angeles; T. A. Wells, Wichita, Kan.; MacIntyre; R. M. Merritt; G. C. Quick and Maurice Marrs. Edward J. Brooks of Denver, in a Parnassus special, was the third and last Class C racer to finish.

IN RACE FROM RAY
D. C. Warren in a Trave Air was the third to finish in the Oakland-to-Los Angeles race; Leo Noma, in another Travel Air, was fourth; L. G. Meier, Buell, Los Angeles, Spearman, sixth; Lee Flannigan, Eaglerock, seventh; Lieut. H. A. Ogden, Thunderbird, eighth; H. J. Kelley, American Eagle, ninth, and Jerry Andrews, Swallow, tenth.

Exhibitions of ground strafing, bombardment and co-ordination of various branches of the army flying service were given during the afternoon by the Ninety-first Observation Squadron from Crissy Field, the Third Attack Group, Rockwell Field, First Pursuit Group, Rockwell Field, and Twenty-sixth Bom-

AIR TRAVEL BY FEEL PASSING
Night Flying and Fog Make Instruments Necessary
Automotive Engineers Take Up Aviation Problems
Work of Guggenheim School Explained by Millikan

Going are the days when aviators fly by "feel" and coming are the days when they must fly by instruments. W. P. Balderston of the Pacific Scientific Company told the Society of Automotive Engineers' aeronautics meeting at the Billmore yesterday.

Flying by "feel" and "the looks of things" was all right, Balderston said, so long as flyers flew only in daylight, in fair weather and in airplanes from which they have practically unobstructed view of the earth. But come a new day of flying in fog at night in storm and in huge planes built to fly "blind," that is with the pilot unable to see the ground even when weather and light conditions permit, he said, and with it comes the necessity of an instrument board on the plane that will tell the pilot all he must know to operate under such conditions.

INSTRUMENTS DISCUSSED
So it was that for half a day, nearly 100 technical experts, some of international renown, discussed tachometers, aerometers, compasses, oclinators, sextants, gauges and without end of instruments.

Fortunes await men who can devise instruments that will enable a pilot to determine the direction and velocity of the wind without having to use earth or stellar objects in the determination and that will enable pilots to determine how far they are above the earth or away from a landing mountainside when obscured by fog or darkness, Balderston said.

L. M. Griffith, chairman of the section, told society members "any country that hopes to keep or gain a place in the aeronautic sun must foster research" and introduced Dr. Clark Millikan of the Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, California Institute of Technology, son of the world-famous scientist, Robert Millikan, head of the institute.

SCHOOL EXPLAINED
The school, Dr. Millikan explained, was established to enable research scientists to study aviation and to train men to continue and conduct such studies elsewhere. He told of wind tunnel and other research work being done at the institution, now one of the country's foremost in this line.

The feature of the night session was a comprehensive address by Commander E. E. Wilson, chief of staff of the aircraft squadrons of the Battle Fleet, in which he explained the tactical considerations in the design of various types of naval planes and then told how naval designers had solved the various problems presented.

Other speakers last night were G. F. Vulliamy, chief engineer of the Lockheed Aircraft Company, and Waldo N. Waterman, experimental engineer of the Bach Aircraft Company. They explained special features of the Lockheed Vega monoplane and the Bach Air Yacht, respectively, and told of special processes used in their manufacture.

The engineers will have a part tonight at the "famous flyers and military ball" held in the Billmore in connection with the National Aeronautical Association meet here and on Saturday night they and the association will hold a joint banquet in the Ambassador.

NOTABLES OF AIR DUE AT DANCE
Ruth Elder to Attend and Invitation Extended to Col. Lindbergh

Elite of society, the stage and screen and the air-minded public are expected to turn out en masse tonight in honor of renowned birdmen and women at the "Famous Flyers and Military Ball," staged under the auspices of the California Air Race Association, sponsoring the National Air Races.

Yesterday prospects loomed bright that at least three of the most famous aviators would be numbered among the internationally famed pilots and high government officials among the guests of honor at the ball. Ruth Elder of trans-Atlantic fame, and her companion, Lieut. Ruth Nichols and Anne U. Stillman are scheduled to accompany pilots in the transcontinental nonstop air flight finishing this afternoon at Mines Field.

A special invitation has been tendered Col. Charles Lindbergh to attend the ball. Among internationally known figures who will participate in the festivities are Commander Scaroni, of the Italian Embassy; Commander C. A. Bajus, a Spanish attaché; Col. Hetherington, British attaché; E. P. Warner, assistant Secretary of the Navy; Commander A. F. Flagg, Secretary Warner's assistant; Gen. J. E. Peche, chief of the Army Air Corps; Porter Adams, president of National Aeronautic Association, and J. F. Victory, chairman of the N.A.A. convention committee, all from Washington, D. C.

Admirals Joseph Reeves, Moffett, Robertson and Pratt, and their staffs will represent the Pacific battle fleet, and Maj. H. B. Claggett, chief of the Ninth Corps Air Service at San Francisco, will head a group of ranking aviation officers of the Coast. Maj. Clarence M. Young will head another group of high officials.

Fred Niblo, filmdom's most widely known master of ceremonies will be director of presentations at the ball. Prizes will be awarded to the latest and oldest arrival in Los Angeles from Missouri to a rally for former residents of Missouri next Tuesday evening in Moose Hall, 1024 South Grand avenue. Dancing and a musical program will be included in the entertainment.

The Paint for STUCCO

It's pure lead paint, the same paint used by master painters for years and years to waterproof all kinds of exposed surfaces

WHEN owners of stucco houses ask, "What paint should I use?" the answer is "Pure lead paint, such as the skilled painter gets with Dutch Boy white-lead."

For years on end professional painters have used this paint on wood, stone, brick—on all kinds of surfaces exposed to the weather. When it comes to stucco there is no new or materially different painting problem. It is painted like any other material, except for a slight variation in the priming coat—the addition of a larger amount of linseed oil to satisfy the rough porous surface.

This trademark, a guarantee of high quality, is on every keg of Dutch Boy white-lead. It is the trademark of National Lead Company, which makes lead products for the many uses for which lead is fitted in art, industry and daily life.

Prevents cracking of stucco
Dutch Boy white-lead paint gives to surfaces what it gives to wood and stone. It covers stucco with a film that does not crack or scale. It prevents the stucco from cracking and dampness. It seals up the pores that may have developed from the action of moisture in unseasoned stucco.

With Dutch Boy white-lead paint a painter can give you a gloss or flat exterior finish. He can match the color preference—to the exact shade of the stucco, because he mixes this paint specially for the job. This opens up an almost unlimited supply of tints and shades to choose from.

Write us for detailed information about the use of pure lead paint on stucco. Also the booklet, "The House With the White Stucco," containing valuable aid in selecting colors both interior and exterior painting.

Brown, investigator from the same office, named in a contempt citation issued late yesterday by Superior Judge Brown in connection with the trial of Lee Kelly for the murder of Mrs. Melba Thoms. The citation is in the nature of a subpoena to appear in Department 27 of the Superior Court, Monday at 2 p.m., to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for asserting that the case was a "frame-up" and that the defense rested on the testimony of a single witness, and the prosecution began its rebuttal yesterday.

Thoms last night that he was in the case probably will be held in contempt today and that they will go to the jury tomorrow.

Brown's action on the case was based on the testimony of a single witness, and the defense rested on the testimony of a single witness, and the prosecution began its rebuttal yesterday.

THE TARIFF ISSUE
In spite of the protestations of the Democratic campaign managers that there is no tariff issue in the present national political contest, there cannot be the slightest doubt, as Senator Curtis emphatically declares, that the election of Smith as President would be followed by a downward revision of the present protective schedules and that such a revision would be disastrous to American industries and to business in general.

This prediction is not based solely upon the traditional Democratic low-tariff policy, to which the party has long been definitely committed. Smith's own intentions in the matter are plainly, if somewhat equivocally, set out in his own acceptance speech. It is true that the Democratic platform disclaimed any intent to injure our protected industries by raising the tariff wall. It is also true that Smith declared at Albany that he would carry out the tariff pledges of the platform. But in the same paragraph he speaks in highly laudatory vein of the Underwood tariff act, which has long stood as the Democratic ideal on the subject, and of which its own author proudly remarked: "There is not a shred of protection in it."

In case any have forgotten what the Underwood tariff did to American industry, especially agriculture and more particularly to California's principal products and live stock, it may be recalled that the tariff placed upon the importation of foreign sugar, by Mr. Smith and held up by him as an example of what the tariff should be, made the following changes—among many others—in the high protective duties in effect during the Republican administration preceding the election of President Wilson:

Citrus fruits, including oranges, lemons, limes and grapefruit, were placed on the free list. Sugar was put on the free list. Cattle, sheep and wool were put on the free list. The duty on beans was cut from 45 to 25 cents a bushel. Wheat, hogs and potatoes went on the free list. Duty on deciduous fruits, including peaches, apples, plums, pears, etc., was cut from 35 to 10 cents a bushel, on natural vegetables from 25 to 15 per cent; prepared vegetables, 40 to 25 per cent; on berries from 1 cent a quart to half a cent; on poultry from 3 cents to 1 cent, on barley from 1 1/2 to 1 cent. Corn went on the free list and the duty on woolen goods was slashed nearly to the vanishing point. Similar cuts were made through the whole list of various industrial products—wool, steel, iron, which the Democratic South, Mr. Underwood's own territory, was chiefly interested.

Smith, says he will take the tariff out of politics and administer it on a "strictly business basis"—as seen through Democratic eyes, which have ever beheld the tariff solely as a means for producing revenue. Again, he declares he will restore the Wilsonian plan for tariff cutting—which was by means of a President-controlled tariff commission, appointed by and answerable to a low-tariff caucus.

Assuming for a moment, however, that neither Smith nor the Houston platform makers really would disturb the present tariff schedules, if they had a chance, it is to be remembered that they are far from constituting in themselves the whole Democratic party and that, as both have demonstrated, they do not even voice the sentiments of the party on several major issues. Even if Smith and his immediate advisers should prefer to let the Republican schedules stand, there is no reason to suppose that a Democratic Congress would not take as full advantage of its tariff-slashing opportunities as other Democratic Congresses have done in the past.

Years of experience have proven beyond possibility of argument that a protective tariff is absolutely vital to American prosperity, American living standards, the wages of American workers and the security of American industry, commerce and agriculture.

The Democratic party believes in and has from time to time disastrously applied to national affairs a tariff for revenue only, greatly reducing or abolishing altogether the schedules created by Republican administrations for the protection of the American workers.

The Republican party, under which the country has enjoyed an unprecedented era of prosperity and expansion, calls for a tariff sufficiently high to protect our own standards of living from destructive competition with the living standards of peoples whose development has not kept pace with ours.

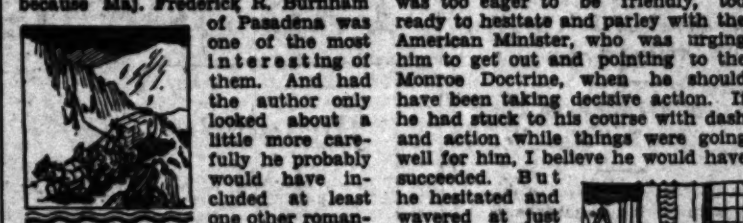

Nowhere in the nation is this condition better understood than in California, which, more than many other States, requires protection for the chief products of its soil—grapes, lemons, walnuts, prunes and other fruits and nuts. In other parts of the world the abundance at a cost far less than our own. Introduction of a tariff for revenue only would tear down the protective wall thrown around California by Republican tariff schedules and would flood our markets in the nation with the products of Europe and the Orient.

California workers cannot compete with Asiatics nor with the workers of Southern Europe; for the humblest laborer in this State earning a minimum wage receives more for a day of seven or eight hours than is paid the workers in many other lands for a week of toil that begins at sunrise and ends at dusk.

LEE SIDE O' LA

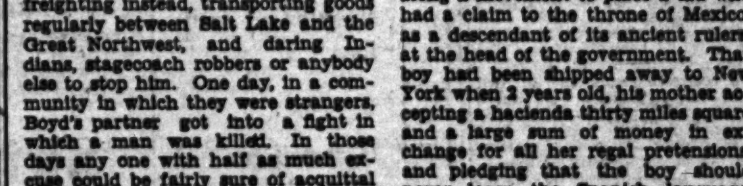

by Lee Shippey

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIANS took special interest in Richard Harding Davis' "Real Soldiers of Fortune" because Maj. Frederick R. Burnham of Pasadena was one of the most interesting of them. And had the author only looked about a little more carefully he probably would have included at least one other romantic figure of the Los Angeles district in that list of immortals, for in an old-fashioned house which sits far back from the street at the corner of Fifth and Berylton lives Col. Wylie Wilson Boyd, who for years risked his life daily, in the wildest areas of this country, in Mexico as interpreter and adviser of the ill-fated Maximilian and later in the Orient. He's 92 years old now, but his eyes still twinkle, he is mentally alert and he stoutly maintains that a little excitement never hurts anybody.

Old-Time Friendship
Boyd came West from Missouri before the Civil War, intending to try mining, but that looked to him like too sedentary a life, so he engaged in freighting instead, transporting goods regularly between Salt Lake and the Great Northwest, and daring Indians, stagecoach robbers or anybody else to stop him. One day, in a community in which they were strangers, Boyd's partner got into a fight in which a man was killed. In those days any one with half as much excuse could be fairly sure of acquittal on the grounds of self-defense. Boyd, who hadn't been in the fight, learned that the town was hungry for excitement and was rapidly getting intrigued with the suggestion that the stranger, Boyd's partner, be strung up first and tried afterward. Boyd got to his friend first with a pair of swift horses, and they then and there retired from the freighting business.

A California Duke
When they reached the Colorado River they abandoned horses for a boat, in which they floated down into the Gulf of California and were shipwrecked on the coast of Sonora. "At that time," says Boyd, "France held Sonora and Sinaloa, and William M. Gwin, who had been a leading candidate for Senator from California before its boundaries were fixed, had been appointed. Due to Gwin's rule over them—and see that France collected its debts there. Maximilian's expedition was an outgrowth of that same desire of France to collect its debts. From what I heard of Maximilian, I liked him, and guide was not long in learning that the President did not choose to hear and that "it probably was a notable example of effecting a cure by the silent treatment."

FARMER HOOVER
Incidentally Herbert Hoover is something of a dirt farmer himself. He has two sections of California land and all of the 1280 acres are said to be intensively cultivated. There are twenty mules and three tractors on the ranch and they are kept busy in connection with the plowing, planting, irrigating and cultivating operations of the season. Of course Mr. Hoover is too busy a man to take care of all this himself, but he knows what should be done and how to get it done. Therefore, when he talks to the farmers of America he is not merely playing a penny whistle.

NO RELIEF
When a man has a deep cut in the pay envelope it only makes it worse to go to the doctor.

HOLDING OFF

SAFETY FIRST
By James J. Montague
If Billy were a lion—
A large ferocious lion,
And wore a wreath
Of gleaming teeth
And lashed a tawny tail,
Wherever he might wander,
Here, there, or over yonder,
Bad dogs that roam
Around his home
Would tremble and turn pale.

PROFANITY AND FISHING
That Brule River guide who says that President Coolidge has cured him of the swearing habit overlooked an important point in his report—he didn't tell how the cure was effected. If he had given out this information it might have been of general benefit to a world that, it must be confessed, is sadly given to cuss words and needs to be broken of the habit.

It does not seem likely that the President reprimanded the guide or suggested that he refrain from blasphemy while in his presence. The President is sufficiently dignified, but he isn't so exalted as all that. What happened probably was that he showed a profound lack of appreciation of the blue language used by his fishing companion. It is not likely that the President was apprehensive as to the effect of the profanity upon the fish, though there is a tradition among fishermen that swearing brings bad luck, though some seem to think that it really helps.

It would be difficult to figure out just how the use of cuss words would assist fishermen in fishing, though mule drivers stoutly aver that it's a great aid when a team is balky or the wagon is stuck in the mud. Perhaps the San Francisco Chronicle is right when it says that the decided to meet him. When I did meet him I liked him more. He was a good man, but not a great man. He was too eager to be friendly, too ready to hesitate and parley with the American Minister, who was urging him to get out and pointing to the Monroe Doctrine, when he should have been taking decisive action. If he had stuck to his course with dash and action while things were going well for him, I believe he would have succeeded. But he hesitated and wavered at just the wrong time, and then France withdrew support from him, because of American protests—and then his followers became demoralized.

The Mexican Pretender
Boyd's theory in those days was that one close call deserved another. He thought he should have shared Maximilian's fate, but instead he made his way, mule-back, to Manzanillo, and boarded a ship. But the idea of fleeing Mexico did not appeal to him. He had become an imperialist, for the time, and yearned to help along a movement to place a lad who had a claim to the throne of Mexico, as a descendant of its ancient rulers, at the head of the government. That boy had been shipped away to New York when 3 years old, his mother sending a hacienda thirty miles square and a large sum of money in exchange for all her regal pretensions, and pledging that the boy should never learn the Spanish language. But as a young man he had drifted back, and then was in Guaymas. So Refuge Boyd went to Guaymas. He might help that lad become Emperor Marco I.

Just as a Sideliner
But Marco was a mere callow youth, Boyd went into the interior a bit, and got into trouble with guerrillas. They were a notorious band of tribute-leaders, and plundered Boyd. Boyd went out and hired some armados, armed men. He led them back and there was a battle. He said he never knew how many guerrillas were killed—he preferred not to know.

Next this adventurous gringo dared oppose the Governor, in an affair which involved a certain lovely norita, and got into real trouble. Charges of high political crimes were brought and he was condemned to death. But the British man-of-war was in the harbor, and completely the question as to whether or not Gov. Smith parted company with the organization to which he owes his existence—Tammany Hall. Our new voters should not be left in ignorance of these facts.

Know Your Tammany
LONG BEACH, Sept. 10.—(To the Editor of The Times:) In the September issue of the Youth's Companion is an article sketching the careers of Herbert Hoover and Alfred Smith, wherein are the following sentences:

"Usually when a man who owes his political existence to an organization decides to part company with that group, he dies politically. Not Smith."

The facts in the case are these: In 1918, Tammany's Boss Murphy brought about the nomination of Alfred Smith for Governor, repeating the action in 1922. In 1924 Boss Murphy, life-long friend and promoter of his Tammany politician, brought the National Democratic Convention to New York City for the express and well-known purpose of procuring the nomination of Gov. Smith for the Presidency.

Boss Murphy died in April before the convention, but Tammany carried on, and under the leadership of Franklin Roosevelt, who thrice nominated Gov. Smith for President, assisted by George Brennan, the goal was nearly won. The injection of the religious issue by Chicago's Tammany man, Brennan, bringing out the Ku-Klux-Ver-South conflict, failed to nominate Gov. Smith, although Brennan accomplished his other objective of "killing Meador" at the expense of the party. Thus encouraged, Tammany worked hard four years to win final success at Houston in nominating its schemer, Gov. Smith.

On July 4, 1928, Sachem Smith renewed his vows to Tammany Hall in the Wigwam, wearing the Tammany regalia, as he pronounced his joy and pride in Tammany. The picture in the rotogravure section of the September 8 issue of the Los Angeles Times answers truly and completely the question as to whether or not Gov. Smith parted company with the organization to which he owes his existence—Tammany Hall. Our new voters should not be left in ignorance of these facts.

The blood of 8000 or 9000 little children alone, who are killed yearly on the streets of continental U. S. A. ought to be enough to cause the people who make the regulations under which this modern juggernaut operates, to feel such horror that would start and make the many radical changes necessary. Must the slaughter of men and women and thousands of little children go on forever?

Isn't it a horrifying thought that at least seventy-five people are most certainly going to be killed auto tomorrow? Not to mention the thousands permanently injured. Suppose the railroads, or the trolleys were guilty of this slaughter, wouldn't there be an uprising against them?

Why is the motor car immune?

ALL Adept It
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—(To the Editor of The Times:) Realizing the need for good material to advance the progress of the Presidential campaign, I wish to recommend that the various verbal mediums such as the press, the United States Chamber of Commerce and national organizations, we adopt the slogan, "Register and Vote."

The progress of a righteous cause can be brought about better through the voice of many voters than by any other agency. Therefore, the slogan, "Register and Vote," which has already been popularized and should be made universal.

Pick the Culprit
SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 8.—(To the Editor of The Times:) In your letters column E. M. B. of Santa Monica says that Gov. Smith nullified prohibition in his own State. As one who knows something of New York I say this is untrue. The people of New York by a vote of a million majority disapproved present prohibition laws. Smith could not force them to be dry any more than Gov. Moody could force Texas to be wet.

GOV. SMITH AND HIS CANDIDACY

BY SCOTT C. BONE
Former Governor of Alaska

The fact that Gov. Alfred Emanuel Smith has started his campaign auspiciously cannot be disguised. A real contest is under way and there, easily discernible, may well stir the G.O.P. to its greatest efforts. Gov. Smith has shown cleverness in forcing the prohibition issue. It affords him his only possible chance to win. Yet it is a very remote chance.

The American people, home loving and love loving, are not going to take a step backward and invite a return to old conditions. It is not the American way. This is a forward-looking, forward-stepping nation.

With rare exceptions politically the sober-minded electorate in the past has asserted its will in the polls and shown itself in the ascendant. This time, it is inconceivable to think, will be broken this year, especially when so high a type of candidate as Herbert Hoover, the man ever named for the high office, is the leader of the right-thinking people.

Tributes are paid to the honesty and courage of Gov. Smith. These qualities may well be admitted. But, any true appraisal of his character reveals his provincialism. Essentially he is local-local and not a great Empire builder. He is a local, but local to the city of New York, which, despite its greatness, has little in common with the rest of the country.

Smith's boyhood home. The article, however, is a masterpiece of hard-boiled journalism.

Miss Muriel Beardsley Flint, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Flint, Jr., whose wedding with Arthur Hill Gilbert, is to be an event of the 20th inst., has chosen her sister, Miss Anna Kathleen Flint, to assist as maid of honor at the ceremony which is to take place at 8:30 o'clock, at the Flint home in Chester Place, while Miss Geraldine Flint, another sister, and Miss Bernardine Murphy are to be the bridesmaids, and the two little nieces of the bridegroom, Patricia and Mae Gilbert, flower girls. Victor Gilbert will serve his brother as best man and Mr. Flint will give his daughter in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Flint with their three daughters have been passing the summer at their lovely country place Los Pedernales, Pebble Beach, and only returned home the first of the week. Miss Flint is not accepting any invitations for parties before the wedding.

Church Ceremony—The wedding last evening at 8:30 o'clock in St. James' of Miss Beth Shuler, daughter of Mrs. Martha J. Shuler, and Fred Meyer Jordan, son of Mrs. Calvin Groves, was a golden one, the church being decorated with sunburst dahlias in golden tones, while the gowns of the bridesmaids, made long and full of tulle shading from burnt orange and gold to paler shades, carried out the scheme. Rev. Roy O. Miller officiated in the presence of 400 guests.

Golden also was the gown of the bride, heavy silk fashioned with short skirt dropping to the floor in the back having as its only trimming a bow formed of streamers from either shoulder, the wide ends making two trains. Her headpiece was of flat gold leaves and golden orange blossoms, from which a long veil of gold tulle made a halo effect, and fell to the floor, ending in a bow of gold satin. A colonial bouquet of yellow roses of the valley and tiny blue daisies against a background of a golden dolly, completed the unusual ensemble.

Mrs. Joseph Kurtz Horton (Adele

Ward), a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing Josqui chignon, while Miss Miriam Brockwedel was maid of honor and Miss Katherine Keadle, Miss Lella Mayer, Miss Evelyn Hausman and Miss Anne Ponton were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were in the bouffant style, made shorter in front and with taffeta bows at the back reaching the floor, and they carried marching bouquets of pink pom dahlias, arranged in doli-like small baskets by ribbon streamers to match the gowns.

Mr. Jordan chose for his best man McGregor Graham and Leigh Cross, Robert Robinson, Ben Person, Leslie Cummins and Joseph Kurtz Horton served as ushers. During the ceremony an accompaniment of "Student Prince" music was played on the organ.

After a reception for relatives and the bride party at the home of the bride's mother, 3002 West Washington street, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan left for a honeymoon at Carmel and Del Monte. They will return October 1 to make their home at 2512 South Harvard Boulevard. Mrs. Shuler received her guests in a gown of gray georgette with which she wore a corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jordan were graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles, the bride being a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, while Mr. Jordan is affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi.

LITERAL MINDED PERSONS CALL ANY MISSTATEMENT A LIE

At some time or another most of us have been startled and embarrassed by some one's carping at a statement which to him appeared incorrect. No one needs to be told one's emotion at being interrupted in the midst of a recital by the remark that that wasn't the way it was at all, or "Mother you're not telling it correctly!"

We may fall through to the any resemblance between this and what we consider our duty, unpleasant though it may be, to set our children's statements right. From our point of view they may be incorrect, just as our statements seem to them.

Some persons call such misstatements lies, and it seems all too cruel a word for them. We should be none too hasty at telling 4-year-old Kate that it couldn't be possible for the birthday cake to cover the whole table and have 1,000,000 candles. To Kate's wondering eyes it was enormous and ten or a million is all the same to her, since it is beyond her range of counting.

THE HABIT OF VISUALIZATION
It isn't only lack of experience that makes it impossible for children to tell things as they are (to us)—but their constant habit of visualizing everything sometimes confuses what they have done or seen with what they think or want to do or see. If young brother wants to go rowing and mother thinks the water too rough and asks him if there are any rowboats on the lake, he is sure to answer yes. The answer is almost as inevitable as that two comes after one. He would

Where People Come for Rest

The Breakers Hotel
Long Beach, California

FROM all over the country people come to this famous Beach Hotel. To get away from the pressure of business and other activities—to rest and really relax in this beautiful hostelry by the sea.

Comfort comes first with these guests—and in seeking to provide the utmost in comfort, the management selected Roberti-Sanotuf mattresses and Roberti overstuffed furniture.

Their choice has been ratified by the frequent comments on the quality and comfort, and by the return, year after year, of many of their most discriminating guests.

You can have the same quality and comfort in your own home—the finest mattress at the price of an ordinary one. Ask your furniture dealer.

These are concrete definite reasons for the superiority of the Sanotuf mattress—the ventilating system which permits fresh air to pass through the filling material; the reinforced strips which prevent the ticking from stretching; the patented hinged tabs that insure uniform thickness.

That Los Angeles is really reaching the fashion state of New York and Paris is attested by its many specialty shops. In addition to the large stores, the capital of the city, each week sees the introduction of a new specialty shop. Shops devoted to the sale of all feminine necessities are abundant. Men's clothing shops, shoe stores, and jewelry stores are also making a specialty of the feminine market. Truly our city has a metropolitan character.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank Mc Coy

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times, before 10 a.m., telephone 4-1234.

A BAD BREATH
The odor of a bad breath has an unpleasant resemblance to that of sewer gas, and principally from the reason that they are both caused by decaying food material. An offensive breath indicates some diseased condition, such as decayed teeth, catarrh of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes, or digestive disturbances.

As has often been delicately hinted at in advertisements, a bad breath is a social and business handicap. It stretches the ties of friendship to the breaking point. A man with halitosis who is courting a maid usually finds that with her first kiss is his last. It is impossible to be affectionate to the one who has a barrier of poison gas.

The most unpleasant odors of the breath are caused by some decomposition of organic particles, and are offensive for the same reason as is the flesh of a decaying animal. The breath of a really healthy person has a decidedly pleasant odor, faintly suggestive of mellow apples. The wholesome breath of a baby is a delight to its mother until the child has been given wrong foods to eat.

When there are decaying products in the intestinal tract, the blood is bound to absorb these products and carry some of them to be discharged through the lungs, bronchial and nasal passages. These cases can only be cured by following a cleansing diet until the toxins have been removed. The mouth should be kept clean by frequent washings, and bad teeth should be cared for by dentists.

A foul breath is an indication of internal uncleanness and is so offensive because it is actually to some extent poisonous to others. A very good regime for clarifying the blood is to follow an exclusive acid-fruit diet for a time. I have an article called "Fasting and Dieting for Health," which outlines the correct regime to accomplish this, and I will be glad to send it to anyone who sends me a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Some foods in themselves, such as onions and garlic, produce a bad breath, and since there are laws to prevent poisoning in some public places, I think that some wise Councilman could make himself famous by introducing a law to prevent the carrying of onions and garlic in public places. I have seen a man at a public place, and he was carrying a large onion in his pocket. He was asked to leave the place. I think that some wise Councilman could make himself famous by introducing a law to prevent the carrying of onions and garlic in public places.

VENTURA FAIR JOCKEYS HURT

Horses Fall and Two Riders Injured in Mix-up

Magnificent Displays Shown in Profusion

Community Spirit Visible Everywhere

VENTURA, Sept. 12.—Paddy Phillips and Harold Adams, jockeys in the four and one-half furlong running races at the Ventura County Fair here this afternoon, were injured when the former seriously, when his horse, Dollie Dunn, tripped on the first turn out of the straight way and fell.

Phillips suffered a probable skull fracture and a broken hip, according to reports from Big Sisters' Hospital. Adams escaped with bruises.

Six horses were bunched on the turn, when a seventh horse cut in from the outside and forced the others into a jam. Dollie Dunn fell and Adams' horse, Can't Miss, stumbled over her. When the dust cleared Phillips was stretched out on the track and Adams was picking himself up farther down the line.

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

VENTURA, Sept. 12.—The sixth annual Ventura County Fair, which opened here today is a demonstration of what consistent community spirit can do, for although there is a competitive element in the various exhibits, there seems to be no jealousy between the various sections represented, and each little town has a good word to say about her sister village.

There is a tremendous automobile show, the biggest which any of the fairs have yet held, and almost every type and grade of car is represented. The name of each car is suspended over it by a painted parrot device, which holds a placard in its mouth, and the tent is gay with colorful banners. There is also an unusually large machinery tent with agricultural implements and machinery. New devices in orchard cultivation, tractor plows and disk harrows are shown. In the middle of the machinery tent is an African lion farm with five enormous lions.

ALL KINDS OF EXHIBITS

There are poultry exhibits, farm bureau exhibits, dog shows and a horse show with an entry of several hundred horses, but in the main and permanent building of the fair is the most important section—the women's department.

It will be called a woman's fair because women have played such a large part in its conception and arrangement. The women's building is under the general management of Mrs. Jacob Diefenbach of Oxnard, with Mrs. Rose Everhard, Mrs. W. H. Gray and Mrs. Pamela Taylor, all of Oxnard, as assistants. The art department is in charge of Mrs. P. A. Giacomini and Mrs. Florence Poulson. The culinary department is under the management of Mrs. E. L. Glade and Mrs. R. H. Andrews of Moorpark. The child's welfare section is directed by Mrs. Nicol Cook of Bardsdale and Mrs. Harold Hopkins of Fillmore, with Dr. Maude Wilde of Los Angeles giving clinical demonstrations on Thursday.

ANTIQUES ON DISPLAY

A special exhibition of Italian marbles, pictures and antiques is under the direction of Miss Lella Taylor and Mrs. W. A. Hobson of Ventura. Many valuable and beautiful things in this collection have been loaned by Adolf Camarillo.

The needlework department, in which there are considered shawls, beaded bags, quilted pillows and a great variety of embroidered linen and hand-made lace, is under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Jones and Mrs. T. A. Proctor of Saticoy.

An important part of the woman's section is the plant and flower exhibit. This department was planned and executed by Mrs. Albert Pieller of Oxnard with Mrs. Clarence Gabbert as assistant. There are fountains and tiny lakes and besides a great variety of beautiful cut flowers there are beds and borders of growing shrubs and plants. The variety is changed each day. Wednesday is the day of the day. Thursday will feature dahlias. Mrs. Frank Bauhaus and Mrs. Harold Browne of Piru are general chairmen.

One of the most interesting features of the woman's section is the competitive luncheon and breakfast table sets. This department is directed by Mrs. W. J. Jones and Mrs. John Gast of Oxnard. The originality of these tables does great credit to the ingenuity of the housewives of this section. A first prize for unique design was awarded Mrs. Meta Evans of Santa Paula for a Chinese effect. Another first prize for a formal table was awarded Miss Carmen Camarillo of Camarillo, and a prize for the most novel, as well as effective, use of unusual materials was given Mrs. Powers of Oxnard for a table which had a tape cloth from the South Sea Islands and dishes made of abalone, clam and conch shells. Mrs. Richard Butcher of Santa Paula, Mrs. Jack Gooding and Miss Alma Valentine came also received prizes for artistic tables.

ORIGINALITY DISPLAYED

The community agricultural exhibits show genuine originality and creative ability. Fillmore has erected a giant Eiffel tower of oranges, with a tomato cobblestone foundation. It is topped by an orange colored globe of light and is very effective.

Piru's booth is a miniature Mexican ranch house surrounding an attractive patio in which are displayed plants and vegetables. San Luis Valley has three baskets of fruit, each set in a deep gold frame against a black velvet background, making exquisite pictures. On the fourth side of the triangular booth there is a basket of huge red and green peppers, framed in the same manner and demonstrating that vegetables can be as picturesque as fruit.

Santa Paula has a very attractive flagstoned patio with a pergola made of heads of various grains. The patio is filled with dozens of flat Indian baskets holding artistically arranged fruits and vegetables.

OXNARD MODERNISTIC
Oxnard has gone in for extremely modernistic decorations. Tall columns, designs in many colors stand out stark against a dark background, and a futuristic arrangement of fruits and vegetables completes the picture.

Camarillo has a grape arbor with real grapes, in front of an artistic Spanish bungalow. Strings of red peppers and clusters of yellow corn suggest the old Spanish days. Beneath the arbor is a charming arrangement of fruits, flowers and vegetables.

Ventura has mammoth arch topped with a life-sized figure of "Vision" which turns on a revolving disk as if looking in all directions. Suspended from the ceiling is a globe, which symbolizes "Culture." In a circle beneath this are arranged the manifold products of this region of natural abundance.

Camarillo has a unique exhibit in one immense orange blossom, about five feet high.

Los Angeles county has sent the same attractive exhibit it had at the Pacific Southwest Exposition at Long Beach. A community exhibit of avocados shows that intriguing fruit in a variety of colors and sizes, and emphasizes its picturesqueness. There is an entry of 1500 head of stock with cattle, hogs, sheep and horses. A night horse show is held with races every afternoon.

JUNIOR FAIR ADMIRABLE

The junior fair has its own stock exhibit, a flower show, an art exhibition and many features which echo adult activities. It has been mainly directed this year by the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts and the Camp Fire Girls, all of whom have interesting and attractive booths.

The educational building has a library and school exhibits and shows a remarkably progressive spirit and much creative ability. Book binding, architectural designing and miniature house building are among the interesting exhibits.

Adolfo Camarillo of Camarillo is president of the fair this year and E. P. Foster is vice-president.

BOY VANDALS UNDER FIRE

San Diegans of Logan Heights Complain of Much Destruction and Demand More Police Protection

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 12.—At central police headquarters today, three representatives of the Logan Heights Improvement Club demanded additional police protection to guard against what they described as the "wanton destruction of property by a band of youthful vandals" in the Logan Heights district.

The spokesman asserted that within the last few weeks an untold number of windows have been broken in the two major schools of the neighborhood, lights have been shattered in front of the public library and private homes bombarded with mud, by a group of boys, many of whom are old enough to be sent to prison and houses of correction.

The delegates declared that at present only one patrolman is stationed in the entire district and that it is impossible for one man to cope with the situation. Robert Newsum announced that he was instructing the motorcycle squad to patrol the district, and said that perhaps plain-clothes men would be detailed to the district.

Inquest into Tambo's death will be held tomorrow at La Mesa. Tambo's lifeless body was discovered in an automobile in the yard of Salazar's ranch home two days ago. At first Salazar protested innocence of the man's death, Jennings said, but afterward admitted having engaged in a quarrel with the Indian.

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES 1132 The Story of the Panama Canal—Part 16. Cleaning Up The Canal Zone.

by J. CARROLL MANN

While the campaign to rid the canal zone of yellow fever was in progress, the American medical authorities were also trying to stamp out other contagious diseases. Particularly malaria, a fever to which most of the native Panamanians were immune, but which, if unchecked, would have taken a heavy toll among the American canal builders.

Vaccination was made compulsory. Tons and tons of quinine were shipped to the isthmus, and every employee and all visitors to the zone were given three grains of the drug a day, and required to observe certain rules of health.

The sanitary officers carried the campaign into the cities of Panama and Colon which, though not a part of the canal zone, came under the jurisdiction of the American medical authorities. First, the filthy streets and all rubbish, the accumulation of years, were cleaned up and the houses fumigated.

When an aggressive mosquito was installed, the streets were kept free of pure water from the canal zone. It cost Uncle Sam millions of dollars to clean up the zone and today the canal zone is a model for healthful communities.
